Big Four Parley Nearer

France Ratifies German Arms Pact

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden disclosed today Britain, the United States and France have already begun discussing arrangements for a Big Four meeting with Russia.

Eden told the House of Commons Britain is ready and eager to discuss the future of Germany and Austria, disarmament problems and a European security system with the Russians—now that the French Parliament has approved the accords to free and rearm West Germany.

DISCUSSIONS

Eden, who was answering a Labor questioner in the House of Commons, said Britain already is consulting its allies "as to the methods by which we can go ahead" towards arranging Big Four talks.

Britain, he said, proposed the Allies should follow a procedure of consultation that will include meetings of officials, then perhaps meetings of foreign ministers and, "if all goes well, meetings probably at other levels also."

PARIS (AP) — Bolstered by final French parliamentary approval of German rearmament, Premier Edgar Faure turned his efforts today to getting Allied agreement for Big Four talks soon with Russia.

As he prodded the apprehensive French Senate towards its crucial, predawn votes on the Paris accords Sunday, Faure gave assurance he already had been in touch with the United States and Britain on preparation for a high-level parley with the Kremlin.

He went further by making an East-West conference — covering all problems "susceptible to a solution" — the final item in a five-point statement of government aims.

The senators voted 184-110 for the key treaty admitting West Germany and Italy to the Western European Union.

This is the old Brussels Pact of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, enlarged with provision for the rearmament of Germany and the control of the level of the armed forces of the European members.

West German's admission to NATO won Senate approval 200-114.

Ice Jam Dynamited

Ice spewed 100 feet in air today when explosives expert planted two dynamite charges in mammoth jam blocking lower Niagara River. No shifting of massive blockade was noted and U.S. Army engineers said they would continue blasting same location in hope of cracking 30-foot-deep barrier. Today's charges were planted after a helicopter managed to drop within a few feet of the ice field and hovered there while the explosives expert lowered himself to the pontoons and placed the dynamite in position. Above picture shows ice jammed up under the Queenston-Lewiston Bridge.

Family of 3 Killed In Snow-Buried Car

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

MONTREAL—Quebec province counted five dead today in the wake of a roaring March blizzard that stalled trains and covered automobiles like kiddie cars on the highways.

A tragic story unfolded when a snowmobile scaled 17-foot drifts to reach a car buried in the drifts of St. Etienne de Lauzon, opposite Quebec City.

An American acrobatic team, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert of Mobile, Alabama, and their six-year-old daughter were found inside—killed by carbon monoxide fumes.

The Robert family ran into overwhelming snowdrifts Sunday en route to keep a professional engagements in Quebec City.

Laureot Olivier, 18, found their bodies in the car about 8 a.m. today while skiing to St. Redempteur, a neighboring village. The car stalled in the middle of the highway and was buried under 6 feet of snow about 300 feet from his farmhouse.

The man was slumped across the front seat. The woman was sitting in the back seat with her arms around the young girl's body.

The other deaths in Quebec included a man found dead in his stalled car in the eastern townships district, and a man found dead on the street in Montreal.

Five blizzard deaths were recorded in Ontario.

Rescuers Reach Snowbound Train

Snowmobile rescuers carrying provisions early today reached a stalled train with 150 passengers some 20 miles from Quebec City. A relief train itself became stuck in snowbanks en route to the aid of the Quebec Central Railways passenger train near St. Lambert de Levis. The first train left Quebec Sunday afternoon and was stuck overnight.

Meanwhile, the 1,500 residents of Ste. Croix de Lotbiniere, 30 miles from Quebec City, pooled their fuel and food supplies today, entering their second week of isolation.

In Ontario 10 inches of snow clogged Toronto streets. Strong winds, with gusts up to 42 miles an hour, whipped drifts across highways and suburban roads and in many areas cut visibility to a few yards.

One of the hardest hit areas was Dufferin county in western Ontario. Howling winds scoured across the area Sunday and filled in highways and sideroads as fast as plows could clear them.

Snowplows which tackled sideroads in King township, 20 miles north of Toronto, became stuck themselves. An SOS message went out by telephone asking all farmers with tractors to turn out and free the plows.

U.S. COUNTS $50 MILLION STORM LOSS

CHICAGO (AP)—A killing storm, the more deadly because it prolonged winter a week beyond its calendar-scheduled departure, moved back toward Canada today leaving 36 dead in its vast wake.

Crop destruction was estimated in excess of $50,000,000.

A fresh blanket of snow lay over much of northeastern United States and freezing temperatures reaching as far south as the northern portions of the Gulf states.

The blizzard spearhead of the week-end storm dumped heavy falls of snow on upstate New York Sunday—15 inches at Syracuse—and paralyzed transportation.

CROPS RUINED

But the greatest disaster was in southern and south central United States, where a spell of spring had brought out the fruit blossoms before the storm swooped in from the northwest.

The hard freeze virtually wiped out the peach crop in eight states — Illinois, Georgia, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Virginia. It left Illinois with prospects of a one-fourth apple crop. Potatoes, strawberries, tung nuts and vegetables were among the ruined or badly damaged crops in Dixie.

Farms Flooded In West England

WORCESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Thousands of acres of farm land lay under water today along the banks of the swollen Severn and Avon Rivers in western England.

Parts of this big marketing city were flooded. Some farm houses and cattle were still isolated and main roads impassable.

Farther east in Leicestershire, where week-end flooding was the worst in 25 years, the sun was shining brightly. All main roads were clear.

Highway Slides Threaten in B.C.

HOPE (CP)—Sudden rise in temperature has made the Hope-Princeton Highway dangerous and snowslides are expected "any time" according to RCMP and works department officials. A big slide Sunday buried the road for more than 60 yards with snow up to 20 feet deep.

Oak Bay Golf Course Chosen As Start for Janice's Swim

Oak Bay golf course at 3 a.m. Wednesday has been chosen by Toronto swimmer, Janice White, 18, as starting point for her attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait.

She made the announcement today before a final plotting conference this afternoon with navigator Captain Charles Goodwin and members of the flotilla scheduled to accompany her when she starts her swim.

Tide tables show Miss White will have an incoming tide for the first four hours of her swim.

The rise in tide will be about a foot. It is estimated she will be taken in the general direction of Hein Bank at the eastern end of the strait above Port Townsend, Wash.

When the tide changes at about 7 a.m., it should begin carrying her back in the direction of Port Angeles. She would have the benefit of the receding tide all the way from about mid-strait.

Miss White planned to be in the water today and Tuesday morning off her starting point and Dallas Road for her last pre-swim training dips. At noon Tuesday she intends to go into seclusion until 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Sunday afternoon Tacoma swimmer Bert Thomas swam from Albert Head to Beacon Hill where he was greeted by a crowd of about 300 persons. His time, breast-stroking all the way because his goggles leaked, was 1 hour and 18 minutes for the three and a half miles.

PEGGY'S CANDY POLE NO APRIL FOOL JOKE

NEW YORK (UP)—Dear Kids: Anytime after April 10, go to your papa and say: "Daddy, is there really a red-and-white striped pole at the top of the world called the North Pole?"

The old gent probably will snarl and tell you that of course there's no such thing—don't be ridiculous, and stop bothering me.

Then you can laugh right in his face. Because there'll really be one there, candy-striped in fire-engine red. It will be 15 feet tall and a foot across, made of aluminum.

The pole is being taken along by red-haired, blue-eyed Peggy Keenan, who plans to be the first woman in history to reach the North Pole when she accompanies her husband's expedition which leaves here early in April.

The expedition will shove off from here, in two airplanes, some time after April 1.

Diem Winning Fight In Indo-China Crisis

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP) — Paratroopers loyal to pro-American Premier Ngo Dinh Diem seized Saigon's police prefecture from policemen of a rebellious religious sect in a bloodless blitz today.

Ousted police belonging to the Binh Xuyen sect of former river pirates withdrew without resistance when Diem's troops rolled up to the building with tanks in another phase of the premier's crackdown on rebels.

The dawn action showing the American-backed premier's determination not to knuckle under to the sects' threat to his regime caught his rivals by surprise.

The sects' "united front" was coming apart. Informed sources reported sharp disagreements among the war lords of the three sects as to whether to seek an open showdown with Diem.

The premier issued a proclamation forbidding the carrying of arms in the city and demanding the Binh Xuyen surrender its police powers to the city prefect.

His position was strengthened by a statement of Gen. Paul-Henri Ely, French commander-in-chief, that he fully supported Diem.

Nebraska Convicts Hold Three Guards

LINCOLN, NEB. (UP)—Rioting prisoners at the Nebraska penitentiary expelled three fellow convicts from their isolated fortress today, but still held two guards captive.

The nine remaining rebels stayed locked inside the three-story Maximum Security Building. They were armed with home-made knives and warned that the hostage guards would be hurt if prison guards try to attack. One of the leaders of the rebels is John Sanford Ward of Stratford, Ont.

BEAR GREASE? NO THANK YOU

Duke Isn't Worried About His Bald Spot

BALD SPOT

RAMORE, Ont. (BUP)—The Duke of Edinburgh apparently isn't worried about his bald spot.

The possibility that the duke might be looking for a reliable hair-restorer prompted Kelly Chamandy, a local fur trapper, to send the duke some bear grease.

Chamandy said he noticed in a newspaper picture that the Queen's husband seemed to be getting a little thin on top, so he dispatched a package of bear grease, regarded as a sure-fire hair restorer in the northland, to Buckingham Palace.

Michael Parker, the duke's equerry, wrote back that the gift was appreciated, but not necessary.

"It was kind of you to express concern about the state of the Duke of Edinburgh's hair, but I can assure you there is no cause for worry."

U.S. Says Reds Mass Huge Invasion Force

Granted 50-50 Chance of Capturing Matsus, Quemoy With Immediate Attack

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Communist China now has massed sufficient forces opposite Quemoy and the Matsus to launch an immediate invasion with about a 50-50 chance of success, according to official estimates of the U.S. Defense Department.

These estimates, it was learned authoritatively today reflect the views of the majority of the joint chiefs of staff.

China's poised invasion forces are reported to have massed an armada of troop-carrying junks secreted in the hundreds of creek mouths and tiny bays opposite the Nationalist-held offshore island. Soviet-made heavy artillery and escort torpedo boats are with the fleet.

But Washington's week-end bout of "Formosa fever"—brought on by a sudden spate of military intelligence reports saying that the Communist Chinese planned to attack Matsu in mid-April and Quemoy a month later—showed some signs of cooling today.

DOUBT BEFORE CONFERENCE

Without belittling their grave concern over the China crisis, diplomats, congressional leaders, and officials of the state and defense departments, generally agreed that China would be unlikely to launch an aggressive action on the eve of the African-Asian conference to be held in Bandoeing, Indochina.

But James W. White cabled for The Associated Press today: "Contrary to some Washington speculation that the Chinese Reds would hesitate to put themselves in an aggressive light until after the conference, there is good reason to think they would prefer to invade the Matsus before or during the conference to impress the very people they plan to dominate."

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Amid fears abroad that the Chinese Reds soon may attack his offshore island outposts, Chiang Kai-shek today belittled their strength and predicted the Chinese Nationalists flag would in the near future fly everywhere over the mainland.

The Nationalist president did not define "near future."

'SHAVING SOAP' DEATH BAFFLES ONT. POLICE

LAKEVIEW, Ont. (BUP)—A man coated with shaving cream was found dead Sunday in an egg-splattered cabin trailer at Lakeview, west of Toronto, and police were baffled.

Charles Tessier, 47, of North Bay, died with his eyes, ears and nose plugged with foam, clutching an egg in one hand. An autopsy failed to discover the cause of death.

Frank Madeley, a once famous jockey who owned the trailer, was found unconscious near the body. His head was covered with a salad bowl that had been filled with shaving cream.

Atomic A-A Could Destroy Bomber Fleet

Entire Formation of Enemy Craft Might Be Wrecked by Single Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government Sunday night officially disclosed plans to add atomic anti-aircraft weapons to its already extensive nuclear arsenal.

A joint announcement of the Atomic Energy Commission and defense department disclosed that the current weapons tests in Nevada will include the firing of a nuclear blast miles high in the air, at an altitude where enemy bombers would fly. Such as an explosion might be powerful enough to wreck an entire formation of planes.

"Because of their great power, atomic air defense weapons will greatly increase our ability to repel an enemy air attack," the announcement said.

"The employment of such weapons for air defense purposes will enhance the effectiveness of interceptor aircraft squadrons and ground-based air defense units in stopping enemy bombers short of our cities and other strategic targets."

The wording suggested the atomic ack-ack weapons being developed will include missiles or artillery fire not only from the ground but launched from interceptor planes flying high above enemy bomber formations. Indeed, it raised the possibility that under some conditions, tactics could involve simultaneous use of ground and air-launched atomic weapons to "bracket" enemy bombers with nuclear fire from top and bottom.

Liberal Party In Sask. Split; Carr Resigns

SASKATOON (CP)—Sam H. Carr, Liberal member of the Saskatchewan legislature for Rosthern, Saturday announced his resignation as secretary of the Saskatchewan Liberal Association.

Mr. Carr held the position less than two months. He was appointed to succeed Glen Bruce following the election of A. H. McDonald as Liberal provincial leader. Mr. Carr's resignation had been rumored for two or three weeks.

He said in a prepared statement "there is no doubt but that a serious difference of opinion has arisen in the Saskatchewan Liberal party in regard to the control and direction of the provincial organization. It is unfortunate that the conflicting ideas have become associaed on the one hand with those who supported Mr. McDonald at the convention in Saskatoon last November and, on the other, with those who opposed him."

"It is unfortunate that two of Saskatchewan's finest Liberals, Dr. Ross Partridge and the Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, have become the personifications of these conflicting ideas."

Hugh Goodwin, Sidney, was fined $30 for careless driving, and Kenneth Broughton, Sidney, was fined $2 and $3 costs for failing to have a license for his dog.

Bevan Faces Tribunal Tuesday

DONCASTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Leftwing rebel Aneurin Bevan—in his first public appearance since the parliamentary Labor party expelled him two weeks ago—Sunday urged his supporters not to quit the party in protest.

Bevan faces possible expulsion from the party itself. He is due to appear Tuesday before a Labor party tribunal which will demand his guarantee that he will obey party rulings in the future—and which may expel him if he does not give such a guarantee. The tribunal will report to the party's national executive Wednesday.

Bevan told a miners' union meeting here that some socialists had written to him saying they proposed to leave the Labor party. He said, "I hope they will not do any such thing."

Bevan declared, 'Our movement is very much bigger than any individual and I urge them to remain and work inside the Labor movement, do all they can in local elections and work in the general election—which cannot be far off—for the return of the Labor government."

Bevan pledged to do his utmost to help the Labor party "face the Conservatives as a united party."

But he said at the same time it would not be helping the movement if he allowed it to be thought that any individual point of view could be subordinated into complete silence.

Brundage to Check Aussie Olympic Site

CHICAGO (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Games Committee, said Sunday he planned to leave this week for Melbourne, Australia, to check progress of preparations there for the 1956 games.

He told a reporter he had heard conflicting reports from Australia on the extent to which labor troubles had delayed work on the stadium and other facilities for the Olympics.

He said he wanted to make a routine check of the Melbourne situation before the international committee met in Paris June 14-17.

BBC DOESN'T GIVE THE PICTURE

Paper-Less Londoners Squirm ---Is It Jane's Day for Nudity?

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—Did Jane get down to her bra and panties again or was this one of her bathtub days? And what good would it do just to know?

The horses are running at Leicester, but which ones? That hot one will go and will you miss it?

Did a certain princess elope with a certain air force hero? Not that we know of.

Did a certain elderly statesman announce his retirement? Nah, not yet.

And above all, confound it, what does a man hold in front of his face while riding to work on the bus or subway? A palmetto fan would look so funny.

Life in London without newspapers has, obviously, a great many frustrations. A wage strike by electricians and maintenance men has suspended publication since Friday of the city's 13 big dailies, the financial and sporting sheets and the Communist Daily Worker. And there's no sign of a break in the deadlock between the publishers and the unions.

BBC DOES BEST

The BBC does the best it can, but what can a BBC newscast do about Jane, for instance?

Jane is the queen of the comic page of the tabloid Mirror. A national pinup girl, she is blonde, beautiful, giddy, short skirted, and there are many happy times when she does not seem to realize she's a big girl now.

In full view of a circulation of some 4,500,000, Jane manages once every week or so to appear in nothing but flimsy underwear. Once every two weeks or so she is seen as nature made her.

And she's 22 if she's a day.

And you take the horses.

A horse player gets a hot tip on a two-year-old which will be turned loose when the trainer finds the right spot at a spring meeting. Every day he's watching the entries and all of a sudden—no newspapers.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES

Labor and management reported continued deadlock in the walkout of maintenance engineers and electricians which shut down the papers. They are demanding an extra 58 shillings and sixpence a week to bring top levels to £15 a week.

FRENCH STRIKE CALLED BY TAX REBEL POUJADE

PARIS (UP)—Pierre Poujade, the bookseller who marshaled the nation's small shopkeepers against paying taxes, ordered 500,000 of them to strike today in protest against the government's economic policies.

Poujade called the strike to protest Premier Edgar Faure's demand for special powers to reform the tax system. Faure goes before the National Assembly today.

Most Paris shops are open Sunday and closed Monday, so Poujade's strike call would have little effect in the capital.

Commission Censures Egypt Over Wedding Party Attack

JERUSALEM (AP) — The United Nations Israeli-Egypt mixed armistice commission censured Egypt Sunday for an Arab band's "brutal and murderous" attack on an Israeli wedding party Thursday.

A resolution said two armed men threw hand grenades and fired Sten guns, killing a woman and wounding 23 persons, including four children and an infant who suffered shock. The attack took place at Patish village, 11 miles inside Israeli territory from the Gaza strip in southwestern Palestine.

The incident was a "flagrant violation of the general armistice agreement by Egypt," a commission communique said. It added that the commission notes "with extremely grave concern the aggravation to the serious situation along the armistice demarcation line . . . and calls upon the Egyptian authorities to do their best to arrest these infiltrators."

Four more border incidents were reported by an Israeli army spokesman Sunday—three of them along the Egyptian border and the fourth near the armistice demarcation line with Jordan.

OUTSIZE MARILYN MONROE NAVY SWEETHEART

Bevanites Oust 224-Pound Woman Mp But 'Big Bessie' Won't Be Shoved

LIVERPOOL (Reuters)—Mrs. Bessie Braddock, weight 224 pounds, hips 50 inches, today found herself in danger of losing the British parliamentary seat she has copiously filled for 10 years.

The local Labor party in her constituency in Liverpool Sunday night voted not to let her run as a candidate in the next general election.

Mrs. Braddock, 55, promptly stuck out her famous chin and declared "We are not beaten yet." Presumably she will try to find another local party to sponsor her.

If the outside MP is forced out of office, the House of Commons will lose its biggest laugh-getting member, a top foe of both the Conservative and the Communist party and a major champion of housewives' rights.

Mrs. Braddock's dislike of the Conservatives was highlighted last November when she refused to sign a memorial book presented to Prime Minister Winston Churchill on his 50th birthday.

She also has bitterly fought Aneurin Bevan, the left-wing Labor party rebel who last week narrowly avoided expulsion from the party for his defiance of party leader Clement Attlee. The present rift in her constituency was caused by the rapid growth of Bevanites in the local Labor group.

Last month, 21 sailors of the submarine Scythian voted to tear down their pin-up pictures of Marilyn Monroe and replace them with photos of Mrs. Braddock.

To their surprise, the MP promptly sent them seven autographed pictures with a note: "Thank you very much, lads."

The crew said they picked her because "She has brains—and no one seemed to care how much she weighs."

Splits Prize With Mother

Twenty-one-year-old Ina Lapp, former Victoria girl now living in Trenton with her airman husband, will split $55,000 Irish Sweepstake prize with her mother, Mrs. Florence Murray, of Victoria, left.

Victoria Nurse Shares in Sweep

Mrs. Florence Murray Splits $55,000 With Daughter in East

A Victoria nurse, Mrs. Florence Murray, of 899 Swan Street, today stands to be $27,500 richer on an Irish Sweepstake ticket she bought for her daughter in Trenton, Ont.

Her daughter, Mrs. Ina Lapp, agreed before the sweep to give Mrs. Murray half any winnings. She drew the horse Tudor Lane which came in second in the Aintree classic, paying $55,000.

Mrs. Murray, a nurse at Rockland Private Hospital, thinks she may open her own private hospital with the money she'll receive.

Mrs. Ina Lapp is a former bank teller here, and was married last June to an RACF instrument technician. She is 21.

2,000 MILES APART

Mother and daughter sat at radios 2,000 miles apart to hear the race.

Mrs. Murray bought the ticket for her daughter "quite a while ago" and sent it east.

She spoke with her by phone Saturday and Ina was so overcome with excitement she had to hand the phone over to her husband, Garth.

He said he was so excited he was shaking.

The air force gave him the day off to celebrate.

Today, Mrs. Murray is at work as usual at the hospital, though still a little dazed at the turn of events.

Liberal Leader Blasts Spreaders Of Gloom

Seek to Undermine Canadian Economy

OTTAWA (CP) — The president of the National Liberal Federation accused other political parties today of conducting a deliberate campaign to upset the economy of the country.

Duncan K. McTavish, addressing the opening of a three-day meeting of the federation's advisory council, said opposition politicians want Canadians to believe Canada is faltering, that the nation is on the downgrade.

By harping on unemployment, he said, "they help to weaken confidence" in the hope of improving their chances of capturing the federal government. But these lamentations did not offer a clue as to what would be in store for Canadians "if any one of these parties were to form a government in the future."

The CCF, he said, would try to nationalize financial institutions and industries and "create enormous confusion with their unsound schemes." The Social Crediters, he said, "would chip away our freedoms as fast as possible and ruin our monetary system and our people."

RECOUNTS GAINS

Mr. MacTavish recounted for the 200-odd delegates attending the closed session of the Liberal Party's top policy-making body the gains Canada has recently made. The gross national product and industrial production were up in 1954; trade prospects for 1955 were brighter and Canadian labor income reached an all-time high of $11,900,000,000 in 1954, up 2 per cent from the previous year.

As for employment, he said about 4 per cent of Canadians who can work "at the moment have no jobs." But there were "more persons with jobs than there were a year ago and the 1953-54 period was the busiest in Canada's history."

The federation president's remarks were contained in excerpts from his speech released to the press prior to delivery.

PROJECTOR RENTAL UPPED BY LIBRARY

The Victoria Library Board will increase the rental for film projectors from $5 to $7.50, it was decided at a recent meeting.

But members of the Victoria Film Council still will be able to rent machines at an unchanged, reduced rate.

Recommendations by film committee chairman H. G. McWilliams included the suggestion that persons renting projectors should be certified as qualified operators by the film council.

The board reserved decision. It was felt licensing by the board would be beyond its jurisdiction, but the matter will be further investigated.

Airliner Crash Victims Drifted To Death in Sea

Honolulu Plane Wreck Survivors Recount Oregon Coast Tragedy

(From UP and AP Dispatches)

SEATTLE, Wash.—Nineteen survivors of the crash-landing of a Pan-American Stratocruiser in the Pacific told today of watching "three heads bobbing up and down just out of reach" and being unable to help.

The plane was ditched in the ocean Saturday. Before rescue came two hours later, the three men who could not reach the life rafts were dead. A fourth man died on a liferaft cradled in his wife's arms.

"It's torturing to wonder what you could have done and perhaps didn't," said stewardess Natalie Parker, Seattle. Her eyes filled with tears as she relived the tragedy. "Just a little more strength, a little more strength, a little more equipment, and maybe we could have saved them."

Among those who watched the bobbing heads from the life raft was Mrs. David Darrow, Seattle, 25-year-old wife of one of the men in the water. She watched while her husband drifted farther and farther away, and then turned to help the other survivors.

John B. Peterson, 81, Seattle, was pulled aboard the life raft by his aged wife and cradled against her shoulder. "Is that you, Emma?" he asked, and those were his last words. He was dead before the USS Bayfield plucked the living and the dead from the 48-degree Pacific waters.

Engine Fell 10,000 Feet Into Sea

The 15 passengers and eight crewmen had scrambled from the downed stratocruiser within 10 minutes after it pancaked into the water with an impact which split it open at the top and cracked off the tail.

The crash-landing was a "normal ditching" after the starboard inboard engine shook loose from its mountings and plunged 10,000 feet into the sea, according to plane captain Herman Joslyn. The four-engined luxury airliner was 12 minutes past its last coastal checkpoint of Newport, Ore., when a "severe buffeting" tore the engine loose. Joslyn said he knew within a minute that he did not have enough power in his three remaining engines to get the damaged plane back to land.

As the plane hit the water, "guy wires, ropes and debris crashed down on us," said Claude Hollister, New York. "I pulled Mrs. Hollister and Betty (stewardess Elizabeth Thompson of Seattle) free and threw them on a liferaft. Then I got out myself."

Those clustered on the three life rafts could hear the constantly weaker and more distant cries of those who died in their life jackets.

The ditching and the rescues were a cruel combination of the good and the bad. Normally, when one of the big four-engined Strato-cruisers loses the service of one engine it can continue on the power of the other three.

But the unexplained forces which wrenched the engine from its mountings and cast it into the sea wrought such structural damage the plane could not return to land. The pilot had no choice but to ditch.

Heroine Saw Husband Swept Away

Mrs. David Darrow of Auburn, Wash., wife of one of the dead, was acclaimed as a heroine. She helped evacuate passengers from the broken, sinking plane, comforting them calmly, though minutes before she had seen her husband swept helpless away beyong reach of a life raft.

Swirled away by the currents with Darrow were the plane's co-pilot, A. G. Hendrick of Seattle, and its engineer, Don Fowler of Los Altos, Calif. All three were dead when pulled from the sea later.

All 19 survivors, the bodies of the three men who drowned and the dying old man were picked up in navy boats by the Bayfield after an hour and a half.

The Bayfield reached the scene with fortunate speed. An air defense command radar station at Reedsport, Ore., was notified from McChord air force base at Tacoma the plane was in trouble and to watch it closely, while a National Guard plane flew after it.

When the ditched plane faded from the radar screen, the guard plane was only 10 minutes behind. It guided the Bayfield to the area.

'HE DIED . . . HIS HEAD IN MY LAP'

SEATTLE—The dry, choked voice of Mrs. Emma Peterson, 75, sounded far away as she told how her 81-year-old husbanded died in her lap after Saturday's airliner crash off the Oregon coast.

"I didn't know it was John," she said in the voice of a person who wants to cry but can't. "I just noticed that someone had been dragged in all covered with oil.

"I lifted his head up and laid it in my lap so it would not lie in the water on the bottom of the life raft.

"He opened his eyes and smiled weakly, then said 'Oh, is that you, Emma?'

"Then he didn't say any more. He groaned, became silent and died there—his head in my lap."

40 Hurt, 64 Held In Belgium Riots

BRUSSELS (AP)—Both the government and Roman Catholics claimed victory Sunday after Saturdya's riotous demonstration against a proposed cut in state support for Belgium's church schools.

Calm returned to the capital after the uproar in which Catholics from all parts of the country, estimated by government officials at 60,000 braved barricades and mounted police charges to demonstrate against the Socialist-Liberal government's school policy.

About 40 persons, including one policeman, were injured in the street clashes, in which police used powerful fire hoses. Mounted police brandished sabres as they charged crowds to break up the demonstration, banned by provincial and municipal authorities.

Officials said 64 persons, including four Catholic members of Parliament, were arrested.

Who Hurls the Stone?

WITH HIS USUAL INSTINCTS of fair play, Mr. Eisenhower says the Yalta papers should not be used to blame his predecessors or to make political profit for the Republican Party. Their publication, he urges, should be used only to extract from the past valuable lessons for the future.

This is a high aspiration which does the President credit. Unfortunately it is too high for many of his followers. Already the Republican politicians are fastening eagerly on the incomplete diaries of Yalta as heaven-sent manna for the election of 1956. A leading party figure says indeed that Franklin Roosevelt's so-called betrayal at Yalta will be the major issue of the next campaign.

It is too early to say what the issue will be. Many things can happen in the next two years to alter all political calculations—just, for example, as McCarthyism was apparently to be the great issue of 1954 and already has dropped out of the news. Nevertheless, Mr. Eisenhower obviously has an uneasy conscience about the Yalta papers and it would be interesting to know how they came to be published at the worst possible time, when the British-American alliance is under heavy strain.

We may not know that for a long time yet. Meanwhile it is satisfactory to see that the debate on Yalta in the United States is by no means one-sided. The Republican politicians are making the most of their opportunity to condemn a dead Democratic president and a living British prime minister but serious newspapers like The New York Times (which published the Yalta papers in thirty-two columns of type) have been quick to remind the American people that there are two sides to the question.

These papers, as The Times observes, "must be read in the light of the political, military and psychological situation of the day, and in the realization that the mistakes were made by men laboring under superhuman strain and bearing superhuman responsibilities for the lives of millions and the fate of nations. If Stalin appears to emerge from the Yalta conference with loot beyond his wildest dreams, it is necessary to recall the situation that existed at the time."

In that situation Germany and Japan had been doomed to defeat but both were still fighting and, as The Times says, "might have even put victory in doubt if the grand alliance against them had fallen apart."

That is the crux of the Yalta mystery—the alliance somehow had to be held together, and for that object Roosevelt and Churchill were prepared to pay a great price. They had yet to defeat Germany and the Russian armies were within thirty miles of Berlin while the Western allies, repulsed by the Battle of the Bulge, were just begining their German invasion. In the Pacific the United States had only reached Manila. The atom bomb had not been exploded. If, therefore, Stalin had decided to make a separate peace with Germany, repeating the short-lived pact of 1939, the allied cause would have suffered disaster.

Churchill and Roosevelt were thinking beyond the war and trying to assure Russia's co-operation in the peace. Their mistake, of course, was to imagine that Russia would keep the Yalta contract. It's violation began almost before the ink was dry. No one realized that sooner than Churchill, and one of Roosevelt's last messages to his friend expressed his growing alarm. By then it was clear, however, that if Yalta gave Stalin huge concessions it gave him little or nothing that he did not intend to take and could certainly have taken by force if necessary.

What was the real mistake of 1945? The Times answers that the mistake was "a one-sided Western disarmament which, even more than Yalta, enabled the Soviets to gain their present predominance in Europe and Asia."

That was the beginning of the postwar tragedy. The West liquidated its strength against the agonized protests of men like Churchill in Britain and General Marshall in the United States. The only critics of Yalta today who are entitled to hurl the first stone are those who opposed disarmament in 1945. There are not many of them around. Mr. Eisenhower honorably refuses to hurl that stone. But he cannot control his too-eager followers.

Sour Notes From the Sounding Brasses

THE MENTAL STATE OF SOME of the U.S. soldiers who were released by the Chinese captors after the Korean truce, and more particularly the actions of a few civilians released in recent weeks, make plain that some effective form of defense must be evolved against the so-called "brain washing" that has become a communist weapon.

If all captured military personnel are to be put through a mental and physical ordeal designed to break down their lifelong beliefs—indeed, their very personalities—and then to be reconstructed psychologically in the mold favored by the captors, the danger is very apparent. A soldier killed is a loss to his side. But a soldier successfully brain-washed is a loss to his side and a gain to the enemy.

It appears to be typical of the released victims' behavior that immediately they regain their own country they set up a frenzied babble about the goodness and kindness of their recent hosts and the imperfections of the decadent democracies.

As though bursting to release their artificially inculcated beliefs they read long prepared statements and quote all the stock phrases of communist propaganda. Like sounding brasses and tinkling cymbals they react automatically to the stimuli they have received.

How successful their recovery may be has yet to be shown. Quite obviously a lengthy period of treatment will be required if they are to regain their normal outlook on life. In the meantime their words and actions should not be taken as completely their own.

But apart from after-treatment, what is needed is some form of mental and emotional preparation for those who may become exposed to brain-washing. Many prisoners were naturally too strong-willed to succumb to their captors' influence. And it has been noted in this regard that men with a strong religious conviction were able to withstand their oppressors much better than those without it.

It appears that to the soldier's equipment of gas mask, radiation detector and other modern innovations must be added a mental defense against the scientific indoctrination of the enemy. In devising that defense the padre as well as the technician may well play a part.

M. JEAN COCTEAU, the distinguished French poet, novelist and playwright, was elected this month to the Academie Francaise, at the age of 63. When told of his success he was decently pleased and excited. He said he was not the man to pretend to despise what he was seeking "for fear of seeming too enthusiastic or naive. Indifference, stand-offishness, irony, spitefulness, are not, in my eyes, proof of intelligence and strength, but of weakness and folly." One could, of course, cite him examples of ironic strong men and enthusiastic weak ones. But one sees his point, under these special circumstances at least. It is charming to see a man enjoy his honors, great or small, and to avoid either sneering or the "aw, shucks, fellows" type of squirming . . . squirming that is only too contagious.

Brock

AT the first of the year a senior British officer was given a CB, in the New Year's Honors, and he wrote to a friend of mine and acknowledged that he was very gratful for a Companionship in the Order of the Bath. "Of course," he added, "it was for Long Service and Good Conduct. But what is wrong with Long Service and Good Conduct?" What, indeed? My friend said to me "I find that a refreshing change from the indifference some people affect."

In Professor Raleigh's wonderful two volumes of letters, you will find some correspondence about his knighthood. In one of the letters he grumbled a little, good-naturedly, and said that a knighthood is like a bereavement . . . "exciting at first, but tedious as a fixture." (And this shows first-hand knowledge of bereavements, by the way. The permanence is the toughest part.) But even when grumbling and joking, he admitted his knighthood was exciting at first. Good for him. Give him another medal for that . . . it was a good and brave act.

GENTS

LET us enliven this page with the broken-up effect of a little dialogue. Here is some conversation that took place this morning between a little girl, my wife, and myself.

Girl: "I know a lady who . . ."

Wife: "Don't say a 'lady,' say a 'woman'."

Girl: "Why?"

Me: "Because the word 'lady' can be very useful if you don't just use it to mean all women. Every time you murder a word, a fairy dies."

Wife: "A gentleman fairy or a lady fairy?"

SURROUNDED

AND talking of ladies and gents and such, I recently found myself the only male in a roomful of women. And as nearly always happens, somebody made some commonplace remark about my being very brave, etc., to endure this undiluted female company. You'd think I'd been risking my sanity or my life and that I really no longer cared to preserve them . . . that I did not set my life at a pin's fee, so to speak, in this foreign world of needles and pins.

What rubbish this talk is, and how ordinary. It is meant to be courteous, no doubt; it is somehow supposed to set the lone male at what ease he can muster. But it does untold harm to anyone who believes it. And almost everybody does seem to believe it. Any man who believes it is either made vainer than ever (if possible) or else made to believe more than ever that women are basilisks or cockatrices, blasting by a single breath or a single glance.

AND what is the truth of the matter? The man alone in a gang of women plays one of the easiest roles on any stage. No other man is there to rival him or sneer at him . . . to resent or mock his affectations and insincerities; to see through him. And among any collection of women there is bound to be at least one who is always happy to have a man around . . . any damn man at all . . . and she will succeed in making him feel welcome and clever and a perfect little godsend. When he goes home and continues to act like a godsend he will go through a bad quarter of an hour, but in the roomful of women he is cheerful enough. That shining dew upon him is not embarrassment. It is conceit. And that shy grin is nothing of the kind, but a smirk. Many hens make light smirk. He is smirking like a radio announcer.

People will look after him. They will flatter him. They will forgive him anything. My gosh, they will even forgive him for being awkward and silent, under the circumstances. Name me one other situation, in groups of more than two, where they will forgive that. And he knows it.

DEBATE

I WAS listening to some 11-year-old girls in a school debate. One side spoke in favor of boarding schools and the other against these salt mines. Speaking against them, one little girl charmed me all to pieces by saying, with only the flittingest ghost of a smile "At boarding school you are given many kinds of food you don't like. You don't need to go away to do this. Anyone can do it at home."

'Biggest Bit of Plain Boobery'

BY STEWART ALSOP From Washington

IT is clear by now that the way the Yalta papers were released amounts to the biggest bit of plain boobery committed in Washington for a very long time. Consider the results. This country's best friend abroad, Sir Winston Churchill, has been angered. Opinion throughout the world, especially in Britain, France, and Germany, has been alienated at a most critical moment. The Soviets have been presented with fine grist for their propaganda mill.

Alsop

It might still be argued that this trouble abroad is not too high a price to pay for a useful object lesson from the past. But the reaction at home is really more significant than the reaction abroad. Almost to a man the Democrats in the Senate deeply resent, not so much the fact that the papers were released, as the way they were released. And if we are to have any foreign policy at all, after all, the State Department has got to work with the Democratic majority.

Among those who feel most strongly in the matter is Sen. Walter George of Georgia, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. George is the dominant figure in the present Congress, and the kingpin of the bi-partisan foreign policy. There is no doubt about the way George feels.

ANGRY DEMANDS

His own public comments have been relatively mild. But he was consulted in detail by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson before Johnson made his brief but angry speech last Tuesday, attacking the way the documents were released. Johnson was undoubtedly speaking George's mind, as well as that of most Democrats, North and South.

It is also significant that George made his proposal for a meeting of the heads of state without consulting Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in advance. George's proposal springs from genuine conviction. But it is also his way of serving notice that he is quite capable of taking a completely independent line on matters of high policy. The Democrats who have been clamoring for an "independent, Democratic foreign policy" are thus now much more likely to get what they want, to the discomfiture of Secretary Dulles and the administration.

This is not to say that George or the other responsible Democratic leaders are going to act like spoiled children where foreign policy is concerned. But the close, intimate, and mutually confident relationship which a bi-partisan foreign policy demands has been badly eroded. And it is not hard to see why.

Within the last few weeks, George has saved the administration's bacon, on the only two really important issues to come before this session of Congress. One was the $20 tax cut—George's opposition to the compromise Senate bill killed the issue. The other was the Formosa resolution, which George saved by a single, moving speech, when the administration was heading into really bad trouble on the issue.

Consider the way George was rewarded for all this bacon-saving. He was not consulted before the Yalta documents, ostensibly classified, were sent to his committee. George has been around Washington for a long time, and he was quite aware that this was a cute way of making public the juicier portions of the documents. He therefore curtly refused to receive them.

UNDER-THE-COUNTER RELEASE

After this setback, the State Department passed the documents under the counter to one newspaper, and this was then used as an excuse for a general release.

If this was not a sleazy, sleight-of-hand performance, it certainly managed to look like one. Meanwhile, a third important issue is about to come before the Senate—the administration's reciprocal trade program.

Opposition to this program is ferocious, and the administration's bacon can probably only be saved this time if George is willing to fight, bleed, and die for it. Since the business of the Yalta papers, he is naturally much less likely to do so.

But the worst aspect of the incredible blooper on the Yalta papers is the timing. One way or another, the Formosa crisis, which has the most dangerous domestic political implications, looks like it is coming to a head very soon. And this is the moment chosen for the State Department to play what the Democrats unanimously regard as a sleazy political trick, thus inviting them to play politics with foreign policy in their turn.

Finally, it is generally agreed that the Yalta papers will not be of any real political benefit to the Republicans, even though they do occasionally show the late President Roosevelt in an unlovely light. This is the irony of the whole sorry business.

But the mystery remains—how Secretary Dulles, who has wisely gone to great lengths to establish good relations with Sen. George, and who courageously withstood fierce political pressure to release the Yalta papers for the 1954 campaign, allowed this messy business to occur.

As Our Readers See It

RECUMBENT MAIL

The Queen's mail must go on. This is our old tradition. But could you kindly tell me, through the medium of your column, how our mails go out?

Does the mail collected mornings in Victoria lie in the vaults of the Victoria post office until the 4.30 p.m. boat goes out and, on reaching Vancouver at 9.30 p.m., does it lie in the vaults of Vancouver post office all night, as they get there too late to go anywhere?

Surely a city the size of Victoria deserves better service than this. Victoria is being sidetracked by the CPR to the advantage of "Nanaimo." Perhaps if enough people were to see about this matter something better may come of it. Hoping something may come from the Chamber of Commerce campaign for better service.

MYRTLE AVENUE.

BOMB ADDRESSES?

While it is still permissible to ask questions about things that matter, here is one: We are now told that in the event of war—presumably over the question of Formosa or islands adjacent to the Chinese coast—atom bombs will be dropped on military objectives, without injury to civilians. The question naturally occurs; Will those atom bombs have addresses on them?

Bruce Hutchison's "Gamblers All," in Tuesday's Daily Times Loose Ends, is a striking if not startling commentary on the present Far Eastern situation. In it reference is made to what a man from Mars might think of Earthman's attitude to the threat of world war, in a way that raises further conjectures on Martian impressions. So, stringing on where Loose Ends ends, here are some of them.

First, that Earthman is suffering from chronic collective mental ill health expressed in mass inertia and gullibility easily activated into mass fear and hate hysteria. Second, that the mental ill health of the few now running the world is expressed in power obsession regardless of consequences. Third, that inasmuch as both sides in the struggle for atomic world control are equally determined to "negotiate only from strength," the Martian verdict on planet earth had better be reached in a hurry if it is not to be a post-mortem one.

Present plans to achieve peace by H-bomb means may be successful. But they do remind us of a story from the Far East in pre-Soviet days. A dying Khan was asked by the attendant missionary who had converted him, if he had made his peace with his enemies. Being assured that he had done so, the missionary exclaimed, "Splendid! But how did you manage it"? "Oh," responded the khan with a happy smile, "I killed them all." But in our case, unfortunately, the enemy has also has similar peace plans, so what?

JOHN McNAUGHTON.

PROTECTION

May I take this opportunity to urge people to protect themselves and families against fire. There have been too many cases of fires, and inadequate fire protection.

I think the merchants and public in general of Victoria are wonderfully generous. There have recently been homes gutted, where there were refrigerators, TV sets, etc. etc. If their purchasers are paying so much down per month, they surely should first of all insure their homes and then add these, after all, unnecessary things, if their homes should be burned.

There are many reliable insurance companys in town and to eliminate the necessity of citizens coming to the aid of those victims.

Trans-Canada Pipeline Discussions Shook Cabinet

DISCUSSION in the federal cabinet over the possibility of providing aid from the treasury for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited at one time reached a point where at least two ministers indicated privately that they might feel called upon to resign. Whether they actually stated in cabinet that they would resign rather than accept a decision which they would regard as wrong in principle, cannot of course be confirmed because cabinet meetings are conducted in the strictest secrecy. But those in close touch with members of the cabinet during the discussions claim it shook the cabinet like no other question has in a long time.

SAVED

It is ironical that the Federal Government was saved from becoming involved financially in the pipe line company through its Industrial Development Bank, by a flat refusal of an American oil firm to have any dealings with a company that could be government-controlled. Nathan E. Tanner, president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, told a press conference that had the American oil firm been agreeable to supply oil, regardless of the terms of the settlement with the Canadian government, the proposition made by the I.D.B. would have been acceptable to Trans-Canada. He declined to identify the American oil firm but a spokesman for the pipe line company earlier had stated that it was Canadian Gulf Oil that had refused to have any dealings with a government-controlled pipe line company.

* * *

STYMIED

In the Commons after the pipe line company had announced an end for this year to any plan to start the all-Canada gas pipe line, CCF leader Coldwell commented that it was an intolerable situation if American corporations could prevent Canadians from using their own natural resources. This point had been raised earlier at the press conference with Mr. Tanner. It was suggested to the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines president that there might be some criticism of the Americans who controlled Gulf Oil. He replied that it should never be forgotten that it was because of American capital that Alberta had the oil and gas available in such large quantities today.

NAME

French Canadians want a name for the Canadian National Railways' proposed new Montreal hotel that will be more in keeping with the city's history. It has already been announced by the railway that the hotel will be named the Queen Elizabeth. But a number of organizations had approached the CNR to reconsider and name it instead Chateau Maisonneuve. That name would be in honor of the founder of Montreal, an early French explorer.

IMPRESSIONS

Visit of John Foster Dulles, the U.S. secretary of state, to Ottawa gave members of the Canadian government an opportunity to study the man at close quarters. His appearance before the external affairs committee left members who heard him with a favorable impression. They were impressed not so much by his personality, but rather by his ability to go right to the crux of a question and give a direct answer.

Mr. Dulles, however, did not go to the crux of the question and give a direct answer when he was asked by the press corps at Ottawa why the U.S. had published the Yalta documents at this time. The American secretary of state's explanation that the documents were published as a normal course of events was woefully weak. His statements only served to add to the conviction here that the action was aimed at obtaining political benefits at home. But the aim was shortsighted and did not apparently take into consideration the great danger of offending allies abroad.

DOODLER

The press conference with Mr. Dulles was conducted in the panelled conference room of the American embassy at Ottawa. Newspapermen were advised in advance that it should not go beyond 50 minutes otherwise it would disrupt Mr. Dulles' tight schedule of appointments. It went a few minutes beyond the 50. There could be no quotations attributed to Mr. Dulles. The American secretary of state was in control of the conference throughout in that he only answered the questions he wanted to answer. Throughout the questioning he doodled on a yellow notepad. His direct and forthright manner aroused a favorable reaction among the reporters who had been impatiently waiting until the second day of his visit to question him.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Anniversary

THIS column has had a birthday since it last appeared. Which probably doesn't mean a thing to you, though it means a lot to me. Somehow, I can't let the anniversary go by without making a bit of a song and dance about it.

Ruth

So—I love writing columns. It's typing them that nearly kills me. Even after a year, it's blood, sweat, toil and tears almost all the way and my typing finger is worn nearly to the bone.

This trouble with typing is a curse. It's also a heritage from the kind of education I was given. For, at the sort of school I went to, girls weren't taught how to earn a living. We were simply encouraged to read widely, write vividly, think intelligently and develop the sort of minds that make all living worth while. Old-fashioned, maybe, but it had its points.

On the day I got this job, I staggered out of the Victoria Press and, still dazed with shock, spent two hours driving around the different districts of Victoria. I looked at the people, their houses, their cars, their children, their gardens.

* * *

I realized with dismay that, unlike a specialized paper in a great metropolis, a paper like the Victoria Daily Times goes into every kind of home. It's read by rich and poor, by old and young, by intellectual types and by manual workers. It's read by brilliant specialists in almost every line, as well as by the dumbest of the dumb. How, in the name of fortune, can any paper or any column writer appeal to all of these?

I knew I couldn't, so I came home scared stiff and quite convinced that I'd bitten off far more than I could chew.

It was too late, however, to start moaning at the bar. Besides, I was afraid that if I went back, whimpering, to the office, they'd take my photograph again. And that's an ordeal I find very hard to face.

* * *

After the first few weeks, I didn't try to dream up things that would be of interest to the readers. I simply wrote about the subjects that happen to interest or amuse me.

As a matter of fact, I never think of the column as a column. I'd die of fright and shyness if I did.

I just pretend I'm writing to a friend.

I wouldn't know this friend if I met her on the street. Her face is quite blank to me. But I know quite well what she herself is like.

She loathes real filth and the four-letter words, but she's not above the occasional slightly vulgar laugh. She has a marvellous sense of humor, and, what's more, she can laugh at herself.

On the whole, she's a kindly creature and fascinated by human nature. She loves her children, though, on occasion, she could cheerfully strangle them. She's devoted to her husband, but that doesn't stop her from longing sometimes to bop him on the head. She doesn't mind cooking, but she hates housework with a deep and deadly hatred. Her love of reading is very real. Give her a truly interesting book and it's good-bye to domesticity for the rest of the day.

* * *

The only time my friend gets really mad is when people push her round and tell her what to read and what not to think and which church she's got to go to.

My friend hasn't much of a mind, she says, but what mind she has she's going to keep as open as she can. And nobody, but nobody, is going to impose conditions that might force her children to grow up with bigoted, closed-in minds. She'll fight for them and their mental future, if it's the last thing she ever does.

I like this unknown friend of mine. I enjoy keeping Tuesday mornings free so I can write to her.

It's a relief to be able to rant and rave to her sometimes, or to be sad and serious. It's nice to know that she can be silly, too, and enjoy high-spirited nonsense about men smoking, and supper dishes, and tuckered-out tomcats.

* * *

What I really like about my friend is that she's just so normal and so human.

30-Hour Work Week Next Aim Of Reuther's Auto Workers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The 30-hour work week is being readied by the CIO United Auto Workers Union as the next bargaining target after the present drive for the guaranteed annual wage.

The union's leaders are concentrating on whipping up support among the more than 3,000 delegates at the UAW's annual convention for the year-around pay plan. But they talk of the shorter work week as the next big step.

In fact, Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and the 1,500,000-member CIO-UAW, indicated in his convention keynote address he sees no end in sight to organized labor's demands for more pay and improved working conditions so long as the American economy keeps expanding.

"When we go to the bargaining table," Reuther said, "management asks 'don't you ever get tired of asking for more and more and more?'"

He said unions never will let up so long as they feel their demands are "economically just and economically necessary" and while science and technology continue to create more abundance.

"We are going in year after year and ask for more and more and more because we are entitled to more and more and more," he said.

$25 Million Strike Fund To Back UAW Wage Fight

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Unio CIO United Auto Workers Union opened the business session of its 15th constitutional convention today prepared to approve a $25,000,000 strike fund to support demands of the auto industry for a guaranteed annual wage.

Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey, in a report prepared for delivery to the 3,000 delegates, said the fund was necessary "in order to minimize possible sacrifice on the part of members who may be engaged in economic struggles."

He recommended a dues increase from the present $2.50 per month to $7.50 per month, with the extra $5 going directly to the strike fund until it reaches the $25,000,000 figure. At that point, he said, he assessment would be dropped.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Wrecked by a Cancer Quack

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Dr. Charles E. Horton, of Duke University, recently told the doctors of the International College of Surgeons that, of late, he has seen 64 cases in which much plastic surgery had to be done on the face because of the stupid use of an antiquated cancer paste. Of the 64 patients, 27 lost their lives because they had wasted time with quacks, and another 10 were mutilated for life. Some lost an eye, an ear, a nose or lips; and, as a result, were terribly deformed. One of the sad features was that in some of the cases it was very doubtful if the original lesion had been cancerous. The great difficulty with the paste which the quacks use is that it can go on eating into a normal part of the face. An expert physician treating the skin lesion would have taken an electric needle or a knife and destroyed just the cancer and nothing else.

Alvarez

Interestingly, none of the pastes used contain any remedy which has not been well known to physicians for 400 years. No sensible physician has used a paste for perhaps 100 years; which shows how far behind the times the quacks are.

As Dr. Horton said, he had met a number of the so-called cancer doctors in the mountains of the U.S. south and had been impressed with the basic honesty of some of them, and their belief that they were doing good work and serving humanity. Unfortunately, they were very ignorant men, who had inherited a formula for a paste from some ancestor. They had no idea of what a mess they could make of a person's face, using the stuff.

ALLERGY TO DRUGS

As my good friend, Professor Chauncey D. Leake, recently wrote, many drugs cause an allergic reaction in some persons. Sometimes these reactions can be very severe and disabling. Of particular interest today are the allergic reactions resulting from the use of antibiotics. Sometimes, after an injection of one of them, the skin breaks out badly.

Every human being who ever takes medicine should know that, especially if he is taking a new and powerful synthetic drug, the occasional injurious properties of which are not yet well known, he should be on the watch for symptoms, and should stop the use of the drug the day his skin breaks out, or he gets a severe headache, or nausea or vomiting, or his ears begin to ring, or he gets feverish, or he feels good and sick, or he begins to get jaundiced. Sometimes the eyes will swell closed, or the nose will stuff up, or the person will feel asthmatic, or there will be cramps in the abdomen, or distress on urination.

Whenever I put a patient on a new and powerful drug I like to have him or her interrupt its use for a few days out of every two weeks. Also, I want the patient to stop use of the drug the day he feels that it has done its work. Unfortunately, many persons like to go on taking a drug for weeks or months after the symptoms have cleared up. To do this is to invite serious trouble.

I am always particularly careful with the type of person who seems to have a faculty for reacting wrongly or violently to most drugs.

Ex-Victorian, Ralph Berrill Dies in Ottawa

Ralph Berrill, a former well-known Victoria architect, died in Ottawa on March 26, it was learned on the week-end.

A resident here for 24 years, Mr. Berrill left the city in 1936 for an appointment with the National Housing Administration in Ottawa. He first settled in Victoria in 1912.

Mr. Berrill was a veteran of the First World War. He served with the King Edward Horse in the Imperial Army. Later he was commissioned in the Worcestershire Regiment and in 1917 was promoted to the rank of captain in France.

He is survived by his wife, and one daughter, Mrs. K. M. John of Victoria.

Car-Bomb Victim Leaves Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jacob Leonhard, maimed in a gangland dynamite plot against his life last month, has been released from hospital, it was learned Saturday.

Leonhard was named recently as the leader of one of the city's two rival narcotics syndicates at the preliminary hearing of William Semenick on a charge of trafficking in drugs.

RCN'S Labrador To Aid in Building Arctic Radar Line

OTTAWA (CP)—The Labrador, navy Arctic patrol vessel which last year sailed the Northwest Passage from the Atlantic to Pacific, will be used this summer in construction of the radar Distant Early Warning line—D.E.W. line—in the Arctic.

The navy said Sunday that the Labrador will be part of a four-vessel patrol under United States command which will survey sites for landing men and equipment for the D.E.W. line construction.

The Labrador and three U.S. icebreakers will work in the eastern Arctic, doing survey work off Baffin Island, the navy said.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dull trading on the grain exchange saw prices hold to a narrow range.

Reports of parcel-lot sales of rye to Denmark were only partially reflected in the pit. A cargo of barley afloat was said to have been sold in connection with old business.

Fair shipping demand and some U.S. selling appeared in oats. Exporters were modest buyers in barley. Rye and flax trade was mostly light and routine.

All No. 1 durums were down one-eighth cent. Other wheat prices were unchanged.

NEW YORK (UP) — General Motors Corp. paid a $5 fine Friday for violating a 74-year-old statute against working on Sunday.

An unidentified person complained recently to police that some General Motors employees were at work in the company's offices on Sunday. A patrolman investigated and found 78 persons working.

The firm has assets of more than $5,000,000,000. A company spokesman said he thought General Motors would survive.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Uraniums Get Big Backing

TORONTO (CP) — The market was thoroughly mixed at the close today amid heavy trading.

Gains balanced losses in industrials but base metals, golds and western oils were slightly lower.

Among industrials, General Dynamics climbed 3¾ but Canadian Westinghouse fell 5⅞. Other gains and losses were mostly fractions.

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroads and airlines were higher in a market that otherwise was mixed to lower.

Prices spread over a range around 2 points higher or lower.

Higher prices were paid for Santa Fe Railroad, New York Central, Seaboard Railroad, Pan-American World Airways, American Airlines, General Dynamics, Chrysler and U.S. Steel.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Canadian Pacific added ⅛, Dome Mines ⅜, and McIntyre ½. International Nickel lost ½, Hiram Walker ⅜, and Distillers Seagram ⅛.

Bob's Big Putt in Times Open Tourney

Gorge Vale Golf Club star, Bob Fleming, who has won just about every available championship, reached for still another Sunday when he won medalist honors in the qualifying round of the Times Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament. Fleming fired a par-equalling 69 at Victoria Golf Club to edge club-mate Johnny Merriman by one stroke. Here Fleming strokes down his last putt on the 18th hole to finish in par figures. Other members of his foursome are Laurie Kerr, squatting at left; Ted Colgate, behind Fleming and Hugh Morrison, extreme right. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

Fleming Bakes Neat Golf Birthday Cake

Takes Medal Honors in Times Island Open Meet

Belting Bob Fleming, Gorge Vale sharpshooter, celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday by capturing medalist honors in the qualifying round of the Victoria Daily Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament.

The 155 pounds of golfing precision fired a par-equalling 69 over the sun-drenched Victoria Golf Club layout to lead a field of 115 entrants.

Fleming's Gorge partner, John Merriman, was runner-up with a smart one-over-par 70.

Oak Bay's Dr. George Bigelow was third with a 71.

Tied for fourth spot were Bob Herbertson of Gorge, and Colwood's George Andrews — each with a 72.

Frank Scroggs, Vic Painter and Vince Clarkson had 73s and Eric Hibberson, defending Island champ, scored 76 after a shaky first nine.

It took a 78 or better to qualify for the championship flight. Seven players had 78s and four were eliminated in a draw.

Low net honors went to Colwood's Gordon Greenwood, whose 13 handicap gave him a 78-13—65. Runners-up were Dr. Bigelow, 71-5—66, and Colwood's Si Spaven, 74-8—66.

It took a 75 or better to qualify for the low net flight. Twelve shotmakers had 75s and four were dropped after a draw.

Match play begins next Sunday at Colwood with the low 32 gross scorers competing in the championship division and the 32 low net qualifiers, excluding those in the championship division, playing in the consolation event.

The championship flight will be competing for the Times Trophy and the others for the Hugh Francis Trophy.

Trouble Didn't Trouble Bob

The methodical Fleming, taking plenty of time on each shot, racked up two birdies, 14 pars and two bogies.

"I made mistakes, but I was able to recover—that was about the story," said Fleming.

Two fine bunker shots—one on the 13th and another on the 16th — brought him out of trouble and kept him on top. He came 60 feet out of a bunker next to the 13th green and laid the ball inches from the pin.

"That was my best shot of the day," he beamed.

The Willingdon cupper went out in 34 and came in with 35.

Fleming, who was hitting 100 practice balls a night for some time before Sunday, won the city junior championship in 1949. He also has won the Island Open, city championship twice, the B.C. Amateur, the Pacific Northwest, the Mid-Island twice and the Gorge Vale championship.

Runner-up Merriman, who was stroking the ball beautifully, missed tieing Fleming by bogeying the last hole.

Here's how Fleming and Merriman did it:

Fleming— 5 3 5 4 5 4 3 2 3—34
4 4 5 3 3 4 4 4 4—35——69

Merriman— 4 3 4 4 4 4 4 3 4—34
5 4 4 4 3 3 4 4 5—36——70

Veteran Dr. Bigelow, powering the ball as ever, sailed out with six pars and a bird, and coming home put together the same count for a neat 71.

Hugh Morrison, last year's runner-up, crept up to a 77, mainly because of whopping nine on the third hole. Two out-of-bounds shots caused the trouble.

Bob Morrison, whose back didn't bother him but who was slightly out of condition because of a layoff, had a 76.

"I was three over at the 15th," explained Morrison. "I had to take a chance to catch up and it didn't come off."

He tried to drive over the trees on the dog-leg 15th, but hit the trees and took a big seven.

Stars Scramble to Qualify

Uplands' champ Frank Scroggs who carded a 73 had one bad hole—the third where he hooked out of bounds and took a seven.

The third was causing considerable trouble to several of the better players throughout the day. Most found the slight wind bothersome.

Colwood's Bill McColl, who shot a 76, had trouble on the greens.

Said McColl: "I three-putted three greens and had a six on the 18th. I just don't seem to be able to putt out here. I feel good when I stroke the ball, the greens are nice, but the putts don't drop for me."

Eric Hibberson's 76 came about by sevens on the third and fifth.

The defending champ went eight over par in the first seven holes, but came sizzling home with a fistful of birdies and pars.

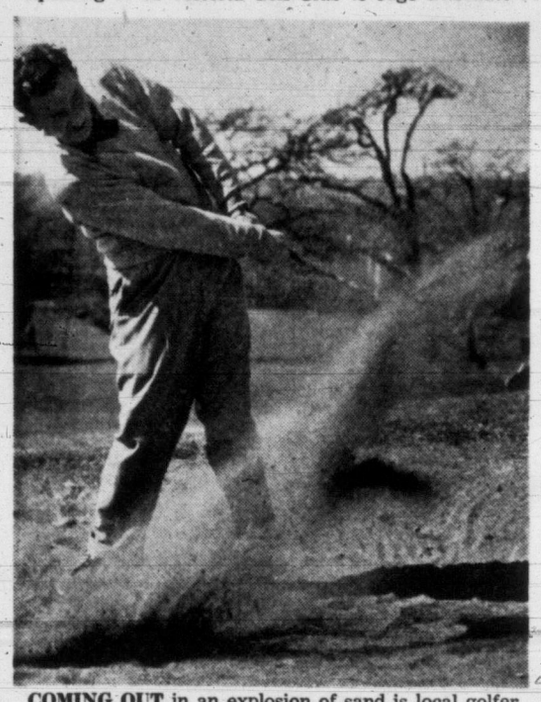
Colwood pro Bill Court weakened in the stretch—taking five straight bogies. He had a 75. Gorge pro Joe Pryke had a 77.

Low net champ Gordon Greenwood explained it this way:

"No bunker trouble and six threes."

Weather conditions were ideal and the picturesque links in fine condition. Winter rules were in effect.

Winner of the Times trophy, emblematic of island supremacy, will play the Daily Province, Vancouver, match-play champion in a 36-hole playoff here for the B.C. title in May.



COMING OUT in an explosion of sand is local golfer Bill Newcombe. Bill caught a bunker on the 12th hole but blasted out to the green. Newcombe finished with an 80 and just missed qualifying for the championship flight of the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament.

ISLAND OPEN HIGHLIGHTS

Local Junior Stars Show Future Promise

As was to be expected, the better-known names in local golf circles stole most of the headlines in Sunday's qualifying round of the Times Island Open Golf Tournament at Victoria Golf Club. But a trio of junior players served notice that it won't be too many years before their names, too, will be printed in black ink.

Bob Hunt, Norm Boden and Doug Munroe are not to be found in the qualifiers for the championship, but all three put up performances Sunday that stamped them as future champions, as much for their dispositions as for their golf ability.

Hunt, the city junior champ, had something happen to him that could have driven him into a black temper. But Bob was able to chuckle good-naturedly after his round as he recounted the horrible chain of circumstances that saw him take a 17 on the tough seventh hole.

Hunt drove his tee shot on to the beach, from which point he started to encounter more logs than a lumber mill foreman. Determined to get out of the jam, Hunt stuck with it and, as he said, "the more I tried, the deeper in I got. Then I got mad." Before he holed out, Bob counted 17 blows.

But in spite of his 17, Hunt still fired an 89 and he likely would have qualified had it not been for that one bad hole. He was only two over par on the back nine. When a player can keep going after that much trouble, still break 90 and smile about it, he looks like a future champ.

The same can be said for 16-year-old Munroe, who got out of a sick bed to fire an 80, and for 18-year-old Boden, who carded an 81 in spite of an 11 on the seventh.

* * *

Everyone in the tournament was glad to hear that popular veteran Bob Morrison was not bothered by the slipped disc in his back that has kept him out of action recently. Bob, worried a little about the back before he started, was all smiles when he finished, saying, "Now I know that I don't have to worry about the back."

One of the reasons the four somes took up to five hours to finish their rounds was that the lightning fast greens required careful reading. Bob Fleming, always a methodical golfer, studied some of his putts from four different angles before making his bid.

Fleming used 31 putts in his round, one-putting five greens. Johnny Merriman, who had a chance, but a tough chance, to tie Fleming on the 18th, used 29 putts and needed only one on seven greens.

BOB HUNT
. . . good disposition

* * *

Colwood's Porky Andrews, as usual, was hitting the ball a ton off the tee and claimed he didn't hit a bunker on his entire round.

* * *

Times' publisher Stu Keate opened the tournament by making the first drive. Prompted by the memory of what another publisher of another paper did in another tournament, Stu lashed one about 240 yards off the tee.

* * *

Next week's paring of Fleming and Colwood pro Bill Court is a natural, Court having upset Fleming in last week's Colwood vs. The Rest challenge match.

* * *

Hughie Morrison had a bad day through a combination of a sour putter and a nine on the third hole. But Hughie gave a demonstration of real power hitting on the 446-yard 11th hole when he hit the green with a drive and an 8-iron.

* * *

Happy-go-lucky Fred Clunk should be a permanent fixture at the first tee in future tournaments. Fred is the perfect antidote for tournament nerves with his quips and endless, "that-reminds-me-of-an-old-saying." When he hits a good drive, Fred invariably remarks, "As the old saying goes, 'even blind hogs sometimes find acorns'."

Flyers Belt Canucks To Take Series Lead

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers took a 2-1 lead over Vancouver Canucks in their best-of-seven-game Western Hockey League semi-final series by trouncing Canucks 4-1 Saturday night before 7,500 fans.

The series moves to Vancouver for the fourth and fifth games tonight and Wednesday and the sixth, if necessary, Friday. If a seventh game is necessary it will be played in Edmonton.

Flyers moved ahead 3-1 in the first period. Both clubs added one in the second. The third period was scoreless.

Flyers opened with a flurry, firing three goals in less than five minutes of the opening period. Branco Horvath, Ed Stankiewicz, Don Poile and Steve Hrymnak scored singles for the Flyers while Wiggy Wylie tallied the Vancouver goal.

Canuck goalie Johnny Bower made several spectacular saves. He kicked out 38 shots. Flyer netminder Glenn Hall handled 22 shots.

Horvath opened the scoring, firing through Bower's legs on a low shot from about 10 feet out at 2.49. Stankiewcz added another less than a minute later when he drew Bower to the right and popped the puck into the left of the net. Poile made it 3-0 at 4.16 by lifting one over Bower as he fell to the ice.

Wylie put Vancouver on the scoreboard at 2.07 of the middle frame. He let a low one go through a maze of players and the puck trickled through Hall's legs.

Hrymnak ended the scoring at 4.44 of the second period, drilling a low hard one at Bower which slipped under the goalie's stick and between his legs.

The Flyers were directed in their attack by Clarence Moher, Detroit Red Wings' western representative while Coach Bud Poile sat out a one-game suspension. The fine and suspension were for his exuberance in protesting a penalty in Thursday night's game which Flyers won 3-0.

COUGAR STAR HIT BY QUINS Y

Doug's in But Pete's Out

By BILL WALKER

CALGARY—Doug Anderson is in but Pete Durham is out for Victoria Cougars tonight.

If Calgary Stampeders weren't enough for the Cougars to worry about, quins y, a throat ailment, has appeared as another Cougar foe.

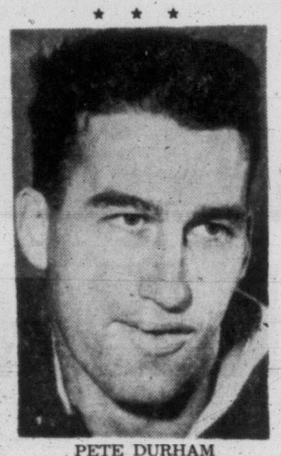
Durham was the victim of this ailment en route here Sunday, and definitely will not be in uniform for the Cougars.

Durham was hospitalized at Kamloops by Dr. J. M. Edworthy, who told coach Billy Reay, "he won't play any hockey for a week. He is a very sick boy."

Durham first complained of a sore throat Sunday morning in Vancouver. When his condition failed to improve, general manager Fred Hutchinson wired ahead for a doctor to meet the train at Kamloops. Dr. Edworthy took one look at Durham's throat, told Durham to get his clothes, and ordered him to hospital.

With Durham out, Reay announced that Doug Anderson would return to duty.

Barton Bradley, who missed last Thursday's game because of the 'flu, has not recovered sufficiently to play and will be sidelined as well.



PETE DURHAM

* * *

Under the WHL player limit, Anderson could not have played until two men were sidelined by injury or sickness.

Anderson will play on a line with Colin Kilburn and Doug Macauley, as Reay has been forced to make a wholesale shift in his line-up.

Alex Kuzma moves to the line with Ed Dorohoy and Andy Hebenton, with Reay centring Gene Achtymichuk and Mark Marquess, and Bill Bucyk moving to defense.

Despite Durham's loss, Reay is confident that the Cougars will be better physically equipped as a whole, as several of the players suffering from influenza and heavy colds last week seemingly are on the mend.

Said Reay, "We haven't had a break in this series, Durham being the latest example, but perhaps the cards will fall the other way tonight."

The Stamps lead the series two games to nil, having defeated the Cougars, 7-2 and 5-3. The fourth game is scheduled here Tuesday night.

Toronto Mourns Grey Cup 'Passing'

TORONTO (CP)—A black-bordered ad today mourned the switch of the Grey Cup from Toronto to Vancouver. The ad, in The Globe and Mail, said:

"Due to the sudden passing of the 1955 Grey Cup game, the 1955 Grey Cup dinner and the 1955 Grey Cup parade and festival, interested fellow citizens are invited to discuss the advisability of forming a 'keep the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto'."

The message appeared over the name of Joseph Keenan, Toronto public relations executive and chairman of the keep-the-Grey-Cup-in-Toronto committee.

FIGHT RESULTS

HOLLYWOOD — Paulie Brooks, 138¼, Cleveland, outpointed Rudy Jordan, 139, Los Angeles (10).

DORTMUND, Germany — Heinz Heuhaus, 313¾, Germany, outpointed Hein Ten Hoff, 219½, Germany (10).

ORFU Forced to Drop From Grey Cup Scene

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 73-year-old Ontario Rugby Football Union that gave birth to big-time football in this country and once ruled as a gridiron power, Saturday dropped out of the Grey Cup playoff picture.

Announcement that the ORFU, oldest football league in Canada, would not challenge for the east-west title this year was made by league president Don Downey of Toronto. He coupled the announcement with a promise the ORFU "will be back in 1956."

Both inside and outside the meeting Downey emphasized that with withdrawal, forced on the ORFU by the more powerful Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, was for one year only.

"We will definitely challenge for the cup in 1956," he said.

Downey also predicted that clubs in his circuit would use the off-year to build themselves into contenders in another year.

SHUNTED OUT

The ORFU was shunted to the sidelines in a twin-squeeze-play by the WIFU and the Big Four.

The WIFU, which had met the ORFU in the 1953 and 1954 semifinals, informed the CRU that it was the Big Four's turn this year and drew up a schedule that would declare a winner only a week before Grey Cup day, leaving no time to meet the winners of the Ontario circuit.

The Big Four informed the CRU it was not willing to meet the ORFU champions in any semifinal game because of lack of crowd appeal and danger of injuries to key players on the eve of the east-west final.

The ORFU, dependent on the semifinal game's revenue to replenish depleted club funds, finally was forced to accept a compromise agreement under which it will receive financial compensation for the lost revenue. Details of the agreement were not announced.

Grey Cup Ticket Prices Announced

VANCOUVER (CP)—It will cost $7.50 for the best seat at the Grey Cup game here Nov. 26.

Admission prices ranging from $7.50 for a grandstand seat on the 50-yard line down to $2 for standing room were set at the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union here Saturday.

FIRST PLAYOFF WIN

Bruins Bounce To Belt Habs

BOSTON (BUP)—Their first victory of the playoffs shot the Boston Bruins full of new spirit today and coach Milt Schmidt promised to continue "jarring, aggressive hockey to get even in the series."

After two straight lickings in which they appeared inept, the Bruins returned to home ice Sunday night and larruped the Montreal Canadiens, 4-2, to cut their deficit to 2-1 in the best-of-seven semifinal.

The series resumes here Tuesday night and then the two teams return to Montreal.

The other semifinal, in which the league champion Detroit Red Wings lead the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-0, also resumes Tuesday night in Toronto with Red Wings needing only a victory in this one to reach the finals.

HOPES JOLTED

Canadiens' coach Dick Irvin had high hopes of sweeping through the Bruins in four straight games, and thus bringing an untired team into the final round. But these hopes died a fast death as a Boston Garden crowd of 13,909 saw the suddenly-alive Bruins back up three goals in the first period. They had scored only a total of one in the first two games.

Leo Labine's backhand shot at 13.53 beat goalie Charlie Hodge to open the scoring. Five minutes later, Jacques Plante was in the Montreal net when Fernie Flaman clicked on a long screened shot and Real Chevrefils came through only 20 seconds later to boost the margin to 3-0.

Hal Laycoe's rebound shot at 18.47 of the second period off Hodge iced the game with a 4-0 margin and made two final period Montreal scores by Ken Mosdell and Jackie LeClair useless.

Fleming Mackell may be lost to Boston for Tuesday's game. He reported Sunday night with a slight temperature.

The Red Wings, resting on their three-game cushion, were glad of a few days off between games.

"We're sure glad of this three-day rest," said coach Jim Skinner in Toronto.

Red Wings Lead 3-0 Over Leafs

TORONTO (BUP)—The Production Line belted two first period goals and great checking made it stand up Saturday night, as the Detroit Red Wings pushed the Toronto Maple Leafs to the edge of elimination in their Stanley Cup semifinal with a 2-1 victory before 12,831 fans.

It was the third straight victory for the powerhouse NHL champs in the best-of-seven series. Gordie Howe set up both markers as Ted Lindsay and Earl Reibel fired payoff tallies 10 minutes apart in the opening stanza.

The Leafs now must repeat a feat accomplished only once before in Stanley Cup history to enter the finals against either Montreal or Boston. They have to win four straight after dropping the first three, duplicating their own performance in the 1942 finals against Detroit.

It was a wide open game, despite the closeness of the score. But great checking by the Wings had the Leaf sharpshooters sniping from bad angles, and Terry Sawchuk was brilliant on the few occasions that he was really tested.

Sid Smith, who accounted for one-fifth of the Leafs' goals during the regular season, potted their marker before a crowd that fell far below the expected 14,000. A heavy blanket of snow forced many fans to cancel their seats.

It was the Wings' 12th straight victory, and coach Jim Skinner called it "our best game of the playoffs."

Dockers, City Advance In Province Cup Play

Esquimalt 5, Scottish 0
Victoria City 6, Duncan 1

Esquimalt and Victoria City scored easy victories over the week-end to advance to the second-round of the Province Cup soccer series.

Pitted against a Canadian Scottish team which couldn't seem to get going, Esquimalt walked off with a 5-0 decision over the Scots, Sunday at Heywood Avenue Park.

City, of the Coast Soccer League, blasted home five second-half goals Saturday to whip Duncan Native Sons, 6-1, at Royal Athletic Park.

In a Victoria and District Football League second division game Saturday at lower Beacon Hill Park, Wood Motors moved into a third-place deadlock with a 6-4 victory over Punjab United.

HOLD EDGE

Esquimalt held a wide territorial advantage Sunday in the scrambly game, with goalie Gene Pednault having little trouble in scoring the shutout.

The winners led, 2-0, at half-time and then connected for three additional counters in the final session.

Centre forward Ken Barnes scored a hat trick for Esquimalt, while Len Potter notched a first-half goal and Nip Sage scored the final goal. Alex Stewart set up four of the markers.

City held a wide margin of the action Saturday and never appeared in danger of dropping the decision, although being held to a 1-1 deadlock in the first-half.

EXCHANGE GOALS

Centre-forward Eugene Thorne shot Duncan into a 1-0 lead after 23 minutes on a play with Percy Modeste only to have Ab Travis knot the count two minutes later on a pass from Ken Hibbert.

Hibbert scored two goals in the second-half, with singletons going to Cedric Robb, George Wright and John Pickburn.

Duncan goalie Wally Thorne was a standout for the losers although beaten on six shots.

John Weldon booted two goals for Wood Motors, Tommy Fallon, Charlie Hall, Archie Taylor and Cowan each getting one.

Dave Singh scored a hat trick for the losers and Hector Renton fired a second-half marker.

Victoria Gals Bump Nanaimo

With Micky Couch taking care of all the scoring, the Victoria girls' hockey team scored a 3-1 victory over Nanaimo Clipperettes Saturday night at Nanaimo.

Miss Couch scored all three of her club's goals as the local team scored its first victory, having tied Clipperettes in their only previous game. The clubs return to Memorial Arena Wednesday night for their third game.

MINOR SOCCER ROUND-UP

Eagles Gain Split In Island Finals

Victoria Eagles minor soccer teams won one Vancouver Island championship and lost a second title Sunday at Nanaimo.

Fourth division Eagles annexed the Island crown in that division by shading Nanaimo Eagles, 3-2, in a well-played contest.

Eagles of the fifth division lost 3-2, in overtime to Harewood Football Club of Nanaimo.

In the fourth division contest, Victoria Eagles jumped into a 3-1 half-time lead and held Nanaimo to one goal in the second half to take the title.

Mike Mason put the locals out front with an early goal and Daryl McIntyre boosted the count to 3-0 with a marker at 20 minutes and his second goal at 30 minutes.

George Hatfield put Nanaimo on the scoresheet with one minute remaining in the first half, and Robert Forrester scored the only second-half goal for the up-Islanders at 25 minutes of the final session.

WINNING GOAL

A goal by Ed Price of Harewood Football Club seven minutes into a sudden-death overtime period sent fifth division Eagles down to defeat.

Gary Robbins booted Eagles into an early lead with a goal after 10 minutes of action and Harold Piton upped the margin to 2-0 five minutes into the second-half.

Sidney Forrester cut the deficit for the up-Island team 10 minutes into the second-half, and Price set the stage for his winning goal when he evened the count at 33 minutes.

In a Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association second division game at Windsor Park Sunday, ANAF Veterans moved into a tie for first place in the second half with Eagles by downing Eagles, 5-0.

Brothers Gary and Ken Leibel each scored a brace for Veterans and Dick Austin added a singleton.

A scheduled exhibition contest between Mic Macs and 5th B.C. Coast Regiment was canceled and Combines of the Victoria and District Football League handed Eagles first division club its first defeat this season, 2-1.

Saturday, Eagles third division club hustled to a 4-2 victory over a short-handed Canadian Scottish team. Scots trailed 3-0 at half time after playing with only eight men, but added one player for the second half and gamely fought back.

Tom Wyatt, Glen Robbins, Wes Place and Art Affleck scored for Eagles, while Gerry Booth and Jerry Caldwell countered for the losers.

In a fourth division exhibition game, Canadian Scottish downed Combines, 4-2.

Ron Gibson scored a hat-trick for Scots and Bob Muse notched one goal. Barry Saddler and Bruce Bryan scored for the losers.

Taylor Edged At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — A three-man rink skipped by Howie Neff of Vancouver won the grand challenge event of the ninth annual Nanaimo Hospital Bonspiel by edging Gar Taylor of Victoria 13-12 in a thrilling 13-ender Sunday.

The Vancouver rink picked up the winning point when Taylor's last rock missed an opponent's stone and took out his own.

The winners had to play a man short when Lloyd Neff was forced to return to Vancouver because of sickness in his family.

Glen Harper's Duncan rink captured the Challenge trophy after coming from behind to nip the rookie McLean squad of Nanaimo.

BEAT LEAFS IN OVERTIME

Alberni A's Retain Senior Hoop Crown

VANCOUVER—Ron Bissett's free throw with only seconds remaining in the overtime period gave Alberni Athletics a thrilling 58-57 win over Vancouver Clover Leafs in the deciding game of the B.C. men's senior basketball final Saturday night.

A crowd of 3,200 fans jammed the UBC gym to watch the Athletics retain the championship they won last year by taking the best-of-seven series, four games to three.

Alberni will now await the result of a prairie playoff for the right to host the Canadian final. Winner of the Raymond-Edmonton Alberta final will meet Dominion champions Winnipeg Paulins for the right to meet Alberni.

RECORD CROWDS

The largest crowds in B.C. playoff history watched the Athletics play the last two games of the final against the Clover Leafs. Alberni split the first two games in Vancouver, took two of three on its home court, then allowed the Leafs to take the sixth game, 85-67, to set the stage for the dramatic seventh game.

Playing coach Elmer Speidel was top man in the Alberni victory, scoring 19 points. Bissett was next with 14.

For the Clover Leafs, Bob Pickel led with 18 points, while Geof Craig dumped in 13.

Leafs drove back to gain a 53-53 tie at the end of regulation time after the Athletics led 28-22 at the half to force a hectic extra five minutes.

Playing a slow, tight-checking game throughout, both teams opened up in the overtime period. With the score tied 57-57, and seconds remaining, Bob Gaston of Leafs was called for fouling. Bissett, awarded two free shots, missed the first amid frantic excitement, then swished the second cleanly through the hoop for the winning point.

Maury Mulhern of Leafs missed from well out with six seconds remaining and the A's got possession as the gun sounded.

Line-ups follow:

Alberni—Groholski 2, Brown 3, Kootnekoff, Speidel 19, Buchanan, Veitch, Samarin 8, Brinham 6, Bissett 14, Kermode 5. Total—58.

Vancouver—Stuart, Dean 4, L. Mulhern, Burtwell 2, Pickel 18, Craig 13, M. Mulhern 6, Gaston 7, Watt 2, Mitchell 5. Total—57.

Local Navy Boxer Named 'Golden Boy'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trent Ketcheson, 26-year-old Royal Canadian Navy boxer of Victoria, returned to his duties today after hitting another highlight in a brilliant amateur boxing career.

The veteran of 69 bouts was crowned Golden Boy here Saturday night after taking the middleweight title at the Optimist Club's Golden Gloves tournament.

Ketcheson, 165-pound amateur champion of Canada in 1952, also was judged the most scientific boxer at the two-day tourney, emblematic of the B.C. amateur boxing crown.

He won his title in outpointing 18-year-old Darrell Elmore of Langley in a toe-to-toe slugfest. Elmore was given the "best left hand" award.

Best bout of the tourney was a blood-spattered, slugging three-round fight for the light-heavyweight crown in which Walter Weinberger of Penticton, B.C., outpointed Andy Marshall of Prince Rupert, B.C.

It was Marshall's first loss in five consecutive Golden Gloves tries. Formerly fighting in the middleweight division, he gave away 20 pounds to the Penticton newcomer.

Last year, Marshall knocked out Ketcheson to win his fourth straight B.C. championship.

Torontonians fascinated by the charm of old-world Britain!

"It is 27 years since we were last in Britain and we were charmed by the serenity of the countryside and the friendliness of the people", writes Mr. E. Baker of Toronto, shown above with Mrs. Baker, talking on the Church Steps at Minehead, Somerset, with one of the oldest inhabitants.

"We were genuinely surprised, once we were in Britain, that costs were much lower than we anticipated", says Mrs. Baker. "We picked up some wonderful bargains in the shops. Food everywhere is very good and plentiful. There was a wonderful variety of things to see. We are so glad we made the trip and our regret is that we were unable to stay longer".

Why don't you plan now to visit Britain this year, whether you fly or take time to enjoy a leisurely sea voyage? For details, contact your local travel office, or write for literature and full information to:

Josephine Baker In Vancouver For Two Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Josephine Baker arrived at Idlewild Airport Sunday after a three-month tour in Latin America and said she planned to fly to the west coast for a two-month engagement at Vancouver.

She was admitted to the United States without restrictions. Several months ago, en route from Paris to Mexico City, U.S. immigration authorities kept her in custody until her plane left.

Miss Baker, who began her career in the United States but who now is a French citizen, was accompanied by her eighth adopted child. She adopted the child at an orphanage in Cali, Colombia.

Symphony Patrons Give $200 Sunday

Blank Cheque Plan Catches Hold; Concert Repeated at Royal Tonight

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON, Times Music Critic

At the conclusion of Sunday afternoon's lovely and memorable concert by Victoria Symphony Orchestra at the Royal Theatre, an enthusiastic audience of a few hundred proved its appreciation by leaving behind donations amounting to more than $200.

Many took advantage of the program cover cheque forms which will again be available tonight when the concert is repeated. This is the initiation of a drive for funds to help the orchestra meet its present financial crisis.

A program of the works of two of the great romantics, Mendelssohn and Tschaikowsky, and played with fine musical competence and brilliance by guest violinist Esther Glazer, and the orchestra under leadership of Hans Gruber, made this final winter concert one of the best and most memorable of an outstanding season.

UNDOUBTED AUTHORITY

Once again in a concerto performance, Gruber's intense sympathy and his undoubted authority in preserving a satisfying balance between soloist and orchestra, were noticeable.

Miss Glazer proved to be very easy both to watch and listen to in the Mendelssohn E-minor Concerto, being so completely relaxed in her mastery of the instrument, so poised in manner and able, consistently, to produce a truly beautiful tone.

The feminine grace and exquisitely fluid melodic line of this particular concerto seemed especially well suited to the talents and style of performance of the artist.

POWERFUL COMMAND

In the glittering exploitation of the first movement's cadenza, Miss Glazer revealed powerful command of her bow and utmost flexibility of the left hand, drawing rich throbbing tone from the G string and conjuring ethereal flights of the purest harmonics in a breath-taking bravura display.

But preceding a most brilliantly colorful finals, came some of the loveliest moments of all in the andante movement, when the solo violin was heard in phrases of great tenderness. Here Miss Glazer impressed one as the possessor of a finely balanced temperament and complete artistic integrity, as well as a rare and wide palette of tonal color.

DEEPLY GRATIFYING

A deeply gratifying performance of Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony was the orchestra's major contribution to the program. Gruber's interpretation sought out all the spiritual warring, the poignancies, hope and tears invested in this monumental work.

Mood, with its pattern of shifting lights and changes was always present, and some of the finest bravura playing the orchestra has done marked the finale. Woodwinds and strings were much to the fore at the opening, with some markedly lovely work on the part of clarinettists.

Most movingly and beautifully played was the horn solo at the opening of the second movement and when the cellos took the melody, the perfection of phrase and purity of tonal color was equally fine.

Mendelssohn's Hebrides Overture opened the program. This landscape in tone with its surging of orchestral forces and plaintive fragments of melody, formed an effective prelude to a rewarding afternoon.

Noted Dutch Paintings Given Gallery

TORONTO (CP) — Frank P. Wood, Toronto financier who died earlier this month, has left the Toronto art gallery three internationally-famous Dutch paintings, his home and grounds, and four other Dutch canvases now in the home.

The gallery announced Sunday it has been advised of the bequest. It added that throughout his life Mr. Wood had a "profound" interest in the development of the gallery.

The three masterpieces were on loan as part of the gallery's exhibition of 27th century Dutch paintings, which opened Feb. 18 and ended Sunday. They are the Franz Hals portraits of Isaak Abrahams and of Vincent Laurensz and Rembrandt's "Lady With a Lap Dog."

B.C. Award To St. Aidan's, Chinese United

Religious Drama Tops Festival

"The Man Who Played Judas," one-act religious drama which won the Vancouver Island Young Peoples' Presbytery Award here last week, was adjudged the best play in the B.C. Church Play Festival held at Vancouver Saturday.

In competition with entries from Vancouver and New Westminster, the presentation of St. Aidan's-Chinese United young peoples groups was highly praised for its dramatic content, lucidity of the lines, and an effective setting.

Lorhe Clerihue, playing the part of Father Juan, was given the award as best actor of the festival.

MODERN JUDAS

Directed by Mrs. J. L. Clerihue, "the man who played Juda's' depicts the torment of a modern-day Judas who is innocently chosen to play the role of the betrayer in a passion play.

The tensely dramatic situation which ensues is enacted by only three players, Kenny Lee, as Pedro, Lorne Clerihue as Father Juan, and Evelyn Hawkins and Pedro's foster mother.

In the Island religious drama festival, Kenny Lee won the best actor award for his portrayal of Pedro.

RUSSIA REALIZES WAR MEANS ANNIHILATION SAYS SHAPIRO

Shapiro, for 20 years a press correspondent in Russia, told a conference sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs that Soviet leaders still are more interested in talking than fighting.

Hub Estimates Exceed Million

Fourfold Increase Since 1949; Aldermen Expect Rise in Taxes

NANAIMO—For the first time in its history, Nanaimo council tonight will consider a budget of over one million dollars.

Finance chairman, Ald. Mrs. Alan Hall, will present the budget at the regular council meeting.

The budget, believed about $1,200,000 and almost four times greater than the $300,000 budget of 1946, indicates the rapid growth of this city.

It likely will be turned over for consideration by council in committee for considerable paring.

Parks board alone will claim it will not be able to make a satisfactory showing unless it receives almost $60,000. Last year the board had to be content with little more than $24,000.

In spite of the board's big estimate, it has decided not to put up the hanging flower baskets along Nanaimo's main streets this year. Protests against the decision have already been voiced, and the decision is expected to be unpopular with holiday makers here this summer.

Councilmen commenting on the huge budget are tossing it off with this quip: "If you want all the fixin's these days you have to pay through the nose for them. Look at the wages we have to pay. It means only one thing for Nanaimo—taxes will go up."

WI Discusses Women's Stand Under Law

BRENTWOOD—A paper entitled "Concerning Women Under the Law," prepared by the Canadian committee on the Status of Women and the Wife's Protection Act, as amended to-date, was presented by Mrs. E. G. Woodward, citizenship convener, at the monthly social and program meeting of the Brentwood Women's Institute.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Cross, Sea Drive, who, with Mrs. George Moody, acted as hostess.

A lively question period followed as members discussed the possible position of married women, particularly widows, under the laws of Canada, especially in so far as they are affected by income tax and succession duties.

STAND ENDORSED

Submissions arising out of the discussion and previously made to the prime minister by the Canadian Federation of University Women, were endorsed unanimously. The convener was asked to forward this information to Federal Finance Minister W. E. Harris, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, and to the W.I. provincial citizenship convener.

Under the general convenership of Mrs. Roger Ronson, president, the W.I. will cater for the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce annual banquet to be held in the W.I. Hall April 13.

Sooke Farmers Name G. Jones '55 President

SOOKE—George Jones was elected president of Sooke Farmers' Institute at the annual meeting of the institute on the week-end.

Vice-president is F. Gray, and directors are I. Monk, J. Keating, D. J. DeRochie, S. Fedosenko, E. Butler, G. Nixon, and R. Martin. W. A. Conder, who has served as secretary for many years, announced his retirement. Directors will appoint a successor shortly.

Mr. Jones, who now is serving for the second year in that capacity, announced net proceeds from All-Sooke Day were $3,400, and that considerable improvements and repairs had been effected to the Community Hall, including a new duroid roof, a new chimney, and acoustic tile.

D. J. DeRochie spoke briefly on school matters in the district, and suggested that the newly-elected executive be directed to investigate what he called the present "lop-sided tax set-up" under which the area providing the most revenue for school purposes has the smallest representation on the school board.

Date for the annual Sooke Fall Fair held under the auspices of the institute has been set for Sept. 10, and already committees have been struck in preparation for the event.

Committee heads have been appointed as follows: A. Glinz, chairman; J. E. Martin, secretary; J. Hunter, treasurer; T. Weeks, fruits and vegetables; Mrs. C. B. Schreiber, flowers; W. A. Johnson, poultry and rabbits; Mrs. A. Forrest, kitchen crafts; Mrs. G. R. Kendrew, handicrafts; Miss J. Smith, junior section; P. W. deP. Taylor and P. E. Wilford, program and publicity; and G. R. Kendrew, hall and exhibits.

Two-Year Program Planned By Somenos Drainage Board

DUNCAN—A two-year drainage improvement program to include repairs to the south end of a five-mile ditch where it enters Cowichan River has been approved by trustees of the Somenos drainage system.

The system was established in 1948 to serve an area of 2,375 acres, of which 758 acres are assessed at the rate of $2.75 per acre, as reaffirmed by the trustees at their annual meeting.

Farmers who use the system find they can begin to work their land two months earlier than previously, and in some cases are cultivating land that was useless before the ditch was dug.

Trustees will ask the Indian department to provide either cash or a work party to clear the ditch where it crosses Indian land, and both Duncan and North Cowichan municipality will be asked for financial assistance in view of the large amount of water from both areas that is drained off by the system.

John Robison was re-elected chairman of the board of trustees for another three-year term. Other trustees are Clr. George Whittaker and R. M. Shaw.

Duncan RCMP Head Awarded 1914-18 Volunteer Medal

DUNCAN—Sgt. Thomas D. Brunton, head of the Duncan detachment of the RCMP, has been granted a Territorial Forces medal for volunteer service in the First World War.

He served with the Argyle and Sunderland Highlanders of the famed 51st Highland Division, and for 34 years did not know he was entitled to the medal.

Two years ago he approached the British War Office, and sent off verification of his service with the unit.

Sgt. Brunton enlisted with the Territorials as a boy in December, 1913, but was not allowed to go to France for some time because of his age. He spent three years with the Fernie police before joining the B.C. Police in 1931, and has been here since 1951.

Qualify for Awards

CHEMAINUS—Several Junior Rod and Gun Club marksmen here have qualified for their silver button and bronze button awards under Dominion Marksmen rules.

Qualifying for their silver buttons were Winston Andrews and Don Davis. Qualifying for bronze buttons were Alan Hart, Glenn Knight, Arthur Dowswell, Barry Rundquist, Arthur Stearn and Larry Wheeler.

Chemainus Group Will Remain in Mid-Island Loop

CHEMAINUS — Despite reports to the contrary, Chemainus Red Sox will affiliate once again with the Mid-Island senior amateur baseball league this year.

Victoria reports had Chemainus joing three Victoria entries and Duncan in a new Lower Island loop. Baseball officials here, however, were not too impressed with plans for the league.

Delegates from Chemainus, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Alberni and Parksville decided unanimously to continue playing in the Mid-Island league. The league will have the same strength as last year, with Parksville returning after a year of playing exhibition games, and replacing Duncan. Other teams in the league besides Chemainus will be Nanaimo, Port Alberni and Alberni. Duncan Athletics are expected to join the Victoria league.

Al Dyer was elected president of the Mid-Island league for a two-year term, and N. C. Ayling was named league secretary. Both men are from Chemainus.

PARENTS PIONEERS

Miss A. Stewart Marks 85 Years in View Royal

Memories of a time when her parent's farm extended from Four Mile Hill almost to Burnside Road are cherished by Miss A. Stewart, who celebrated her 85th birthday Sunday.

Now a resident on Stewart Street in View Royal, which was named for her family, she received congratulations from numbers of relatives and friends who called during the day.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart, emigrated from Scotland aboard the sailing ship Norman Morrison, and made the hazardous passage around Cape Horn.

The farm they created out of virgin forest land along the route of the present Island Highway was known as Seaview Farm, and is still remembered by old-time residents of the district.

CRAIGFLOWER PUPIL

Miss Stewart was born on the farm, the only girl in a family of six children. She was one of the first pupils at the old Craigflower School, and participated in its recent centenary celebration.

As a youngster she developed a love for her farm home, and took particular interest in the herd of cattle kept by her parents. She is still an active and enthusiastic gardener, and in the winter finds enjoyment in her aviary, where she raises canaries.

The only survivor of her immediate family, she has been living with her niece, Mrs. Harold Cullings. Other nieces and nephews reside in the Greater Victoria area.

$1,000 Jewelry Stolen in Raid

4 Week-End Burglaries In Downtown District

Jewelry valued at $1,000 was stolen when thieves ransacked second-story offices of a Douglas Street business premises in one of four week-end break-ins.

Office drawers and show cases were ransacked and the jewelry taken in a raid on the jewelry shop of Edward Rowbotham, 1615 Douglas Street.

Houston's Beauty Salon, an adjoining second-story office, was also ransacked. No one at the shop this morning could say if anything was missing.

The offices are situated on the second floor above The Candy Box, 1611 Douglas St.

A lawyer's office was broken into, and there was a burglary at Carpetorium Co., 1119 Vancouver Street, as well.

Detectives Bill Andrews and Deans Blackstock said the Douglas Street premises were entered by removing a skylight frame and dropping down a narrow passage about 10 feet to a lavatory floor at rear of the building.

The complete skylight frame had been picked up and set aside.

After gaining entrance, the thieves then went to offices upstairs and entered the jewelry shop by forcing a lock.

All drawers and show cases were ransacked and Mr. Rowbotham was unable to set an exact figure of what was missing in watches and rings.

After a quick appraisal he estimated that the thieves had made off with $1,000 in jewelry from the showcases.

A small hole in a glass door gave entry into the adjoining beauty salon.

It was completely ransacked.

Break-in was reported shortly after 9 a.m. this morning.

Lawyer James Proudfoot told police $10 was stolen from his offices at 902 Government Street.

Entry was made through an office window or rear door.

In addition to the $10, a desk clock was taken from a secretary's office.

Attempt was made to remove an intercom machine from the office. It was smashed in the attempt.

Entrance was gained to Carpetorium Co. by breaking a wining. Only 43 cents was taken. ing.

Mayor to Fight Watershed Logging Road

Harrison Fears Contamination

A bid to cut a private logging road through the upper reaches of the Sooke Lake Watershed will meet heavy opposition when it comes before Greater Victoria Water Board soon, it was learned today.

Mayor Claude Harrison said a request has been received from McCarter Shingle Company Ltd. to construct a right-of-way from Grant Lake to Jarvis Lake.

The route would penetrate what the mayor terms ". . . one of the finest timber stands on the Island."

"I am opposed to any cutting on the watershed. It would be the thin edge of a wedge," he stated.

COULD SKIRT

He felt if the logging concern wanted to connect timber holdings at the two lakes, it could do so by skirting the watershed area.

He gave two reasons for his stand. First, the timber standing at present on the proposed roadline is "of great value."

Second, such a road might open the area to picnickers and tourists, with a resultant fire hazard and danger of contamination to the area which provides Greater Victoria drinking water.

Opposition to the move by the four city representatives to the water board would be sufficient to halt it. The three other municipalities in the board have only one member each.

City representatives are Mayor Harrison (chairman), Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Ald. Arthur Dowell, and Ald. Brent Murdoch. Reeve Joseph Casey represents Saanich, Reeve Fred Norris, Oak Bay, and Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt, completing the board membership.

No date has yet been disclosed for the meeting of the board which will deal with the matter.

The board will visit the area in a body as soon as high-level snows have melted, possibly in a week or ten days, then will meet to decide the issue.

Assault Trial Closes Assizes

Last trial of the Spring Criminal Assizes opened today with the case of Gerald McGurk and Clifford William Lerocque, both 22, RCN seamen, charged with assault with intent to rob Joseph Kong, Victoria taxi driver on Feb. 22.

James Proudfoot is counsel for the accused.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, trial judge, this morning dismissed panel jury after 12 jurymen were selected for the present trial. The trial is expected to end Tuesday.

Four RCN Ships Sail to Meet HMCS Ontario

Two destroyers and two frigates of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron will leave Esquimalt at 8 a.m. Tuesday to rendezvous at sea with HMCS Ontario, returning from a three-month cruise to Australia and New Zealand.

HMC ships Cayuga, Athabaskan, Jonquiere and Ste. Therese will make the meet with the cruiser on Thursday, several hundred miles off the coast.

Ontario left Pearl Harbor on Sunday on the last leg of the cruise, during which she served as training ship for 75 officer-cadets from HMCS Venture.

The five ships are scheduled to arrive here at 10 a.m. Saturday.

R. H. Palmer Passes In Barbados

A resident of Victoria for 20 years, R. H. Palmer, 74, 1580 York Place, died March 9 in Barbados, BWI, while wintering there with his wife.

Funeral services were held March 10 and the former African civil servant was buried in Westbury Cemetery, Barbados. Mrs. Palmer has returned here.

Born in Nottinghamshire, England in 1881, Mr. Palmer was educated there and took his BA degree at Oxford University. He graduated at 21 and joined the civil service in South Africa.

He transferred to the Northern Rhodesian administrative service and spent most of his working life in Barotseland.

As a native commissioner he opened administrative stations where white men had never before been seen. He spoke two native languages fluently and was very much attached to the life with its native problems, wild game and river trips on the Zambesi.

Mr. Palmer eventually became provincial commissioner of Barotseland, the position he held when he and Mrs. Palmer retired to Victoria in 1935.

Surviving him in England are his sister Mrs. M. Hill, and two nephews.

Some Aspects of the Therapeutic Effect of Spoonerisms on the Human Mind afflicted with Monotonous Debilitation.

(Being a paper which, somehow, did not get delivered to the recent convention in Victoria of the North Pacific Society of Neurology and Psychiatry.)

Gentleman: Words cannot tell you how honored I am to have been asked to address such a gestinguished dathering of leaders in the field of neurology.

I am greeply dateful for the opportunity, the more so because I realize I am far behind the times, and know little of neurology.

However, I sust may I have never been able to figure out what neurology can offer that oldology couldn't. Give me the good old-fashionedology every ime.

Which brings me to the subject of this paper, namely, the therapeutic effect of Spoonerisms.

We all know the modern mind is onstanly cafflicted with monotonous chores. Such as running a vacuum cleaner, for instance.

No wonder so many wousehives are crarly and snoss when hend frusband comes home at night. They have been freeporming the chonotonous more of cleaning the rug.

Now, I suggest to you, gentlemen, that the ladies could rest their minds by indulging in meditative Spoonerisms.

Instead of saying to themselves "Darn this vacuum cleaner," they should say "Darn this clacuum veaner."

The Spoonerism, "clacuum veaner" will immediately bring to mind more pleasant subjects, as clacuum veaner sounds like a Danish liquer.

So the housewife (beg pardon, wousehife) says to herself "Lanish diquer," which reminds her of Liberace. (Don't ask me why—almost anything reminds women of Liberace).

At the bisk of roaring you, gentleman, one more example. Washing dishes is a monotonous chore; but if it is thought of as dossing wishes, think of the improvement! The housewife, thinking of wishes, immediately wishes the dishes were done. Or, better still, dishes the wishes dere won.

In support on my support of Spoonerisms as a soothing agent to minds afflicted with monotony, please consider the case of the columnist, Ronte Moberts.

The title of his column is actually a spoonerism, derived from the governor of North Carolina having said to the governor of South Carolina "It's a long drink between times."

I seek your support, mentalgen, in gaining all rue decognition for that great therapeutic agent—the oonerspism.

She is the 12th candidate to enter the competition and a winner will be chosen by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition here May 2-7. The winner will get an expense-paid trip to London, Ont., to compete in the "Miss Canada" contest with the chance of going on to the "Miss America" finals at Atlantic City.

Ten girls will be selected to enter the final at preliminary judging April 15.

Entry deadline is April 1.

Ski Club Moves for Park at Mt. Brenton

Asks Royal Commission Set Aside 2,500 Acres for Recreation Area

Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club today recommended to the Sloan Royal Commission that a 2,500-acre park be created on Mount Brenton, near Chemainus.

Club official Anthony Emery presented a brief to the commission, asking that the provincial government take over the tract "for the recreational use of the citizens of the province."

The land is now owned by Van-West Logging Co., but Mr. Emery said his group is of the opinion "they would be prepared to negotiate for its outright sale at a reasonable figure."

The ski club has already constructed a large cabin at Silver Lake, and operates a 500-foot ski-tow from January to May, Mr. Emery said.

He told Chief Justice Gordon Sloan there is no provincial park on Vancouver Island providing skiing facilities similar to those available at Mount Brenton.

Mr. Emery said the proposed park's location puts it in a central position to 90 per cent of the residents of Vancouver Island.

He said it possesses great natural beauty, with a view from the Brenton bluffs across Georgia Strait "unparalleled on the southern half of the Island."

AT CITY PARK

Dance Display Proposed By Indians

City council has been asked by noted totem pole carver Chief Mungo Martin to assist this summer in presentation of historic dances of the Kwaguitl Indians.

A letter to Mayor Claude Harrison, signed by Noolth-eet, the chief's agent, said the Indians propose an annual production of authentic, historic winter dances.

The display would be produced by 20 Indians in native costume. It would include 15 mask dances of mythical origin, he said.

Chief Martin has asked the city to provide the use of Royal Athletic Park at a date to be set later.

He added the dancers would volunteer a special preview of the event for crippled children, DVA and other hospital patients and district pensioners.

A float will be entered in the Empire Day parade, May 23, as pre-publicity for the dances.

Council will discuss the request at its next meeting, April 7. Mayor Harrison said he thought the group should be given every encouragement.

Town Planners to Receive Race Track Report Tuesday

A vital report by Capital Regional Planning Board on the Beaver-Elk race track issue likely will be revealed this week.

CRPB director, Brahm Wiesman, said today his report will be submitted to the board Tuesday. The board is expected to meet promptly and announce its recommendations to city and Saanich councils.

Island Turf Company Ltd., a Vancouver racing interest, approached Victoria recently for permission to construct a $350,000 race track and fair grounds on the city-owned Elk Lake watershed. The 80-acre site is within Saanich boundaries and there has been heavy opposition from Saanich residents as well as district churches.

A tentative deal calling for an $800-a-year rental was drawn up. Then Saanich council met with city council and a decision was reached to halt negotiations until a report was received from the Capital Regional and Town Planning Boards.

It is hinted that the CRPB report may favor some other type of development of the area, possibly as a district playground including improved beaches and a golf course. But councils are not bound by the board recommendations.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Tartan Cummerbund and Tie Spring Feature for Men

By Penny Saver

Come on, you men! Be a little revolutionary in your dress for a change!

Gradually, oh so gradually, the male population IS being led out of the fashion "dark ages," but they need someone to push a little, too. The pink and charcoal craze has branched out, and I admire the men who are going along with it. You should see the fabulous colors being shown for sweaters, shirts, tie and socks, too.

I'm really taken with the cummerbund and tie sets I saw today. I've seen them worn and I'm waiting to see more. With evening clothes, either black or white jacket, these sets are truly striking. It's taking them a while to catch on in Victoria, but I think they'll "come into their own" before long.

There are four or five different authentic tartans, and a folded-style cummerbund and bow tie set costs $5.95.

More new arrivals in town are the "Italian style" sports shirts for men. Very popular. Under a spread collar there are two buttons. Once these are undone, the shirt is simply slipped over the head like a sweater. There aren't any buttons down the front at all. Both dark and light tones are being featured, and they're selling at $5.95 and $6.95. Look awfully comfortable to me.

No, I'm not going to take up the whole column talking about men's clothes. Here's something for the ladies, too.

Corduroy peddle pushers in adorably modern designs are on sale for $4.99 . . . they were $7.98. One pair that interested me was fashioned with irregularly sized squares about an inch and a half in size. Cream ones and black ones form a rather strange checkerboard effect. In-between checks have a stick design resembling several TV antennaes gone askew.

Well, I said they were rather strange, didn't I?

Another pair has a cream background, and all over are scrabble cards, with half made words here and there. You can buy these with a grey background, too. The scrabble squares are in bright, eye catching colors.

Slash pockets add a pert look to these "wear-everywheres."

Black and red stripes — tiny ones—captured my roving eye next. A self-belt nipped in the waist. Attractive pockets were again featured. All these peddle pushers are selling at the same price, $4.99.

Line Divine!

Keep cool and look like a cool million all season in this halter dress and jacket. Molded bodice above a whirling skirt—this line is magic for any figure. Choose a gay print cotton—accent the bodice with contrast color, white eyelet or lace.

Pattern 4738: Misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 ensemble, 5⅛ yards 35-inch; ½ yard contrast.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Send 35 cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Lilian Bailey, W. B. Thiersch Married

Miss Kathleen Lilian Bailey was a lovely bride this morning as she exchanged vows with Wolfgang Bruno Thiersch, at a ceremony in St. John's Church, with Rev. Canon George Biddle officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. W. Bailey, 1005 Pemberton Road, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Thiersch, of Leipzig, Germany. The bride attended Victoria College, trained as a medical technician at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and is at present on the staff of Vancouver General Hospital, while the groom, who studied architecture in Hamburg, Germany, prior to his coming to Canada, is studying at University of British Columbia's School of Architecture. F. Chubb played traditional organ music.

A waltz-length gown in empire styling of white deep lustre satin with fragile lace forming the yoke and sleeves was chosen by the bride. An illusion net veil was caught to a wreath of lily of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and freesia. The dark-haired bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Margaret Bailey, sister of the bride, and only attendant, wore a blue satin princess styled dress in ballerina length. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and wore a pale pink coronet in her hair.

Best man was Pyers Bailey, brother of the bride, and ushers were Roger Bailey, another brother of the bride, and David Beck.

At the luncheon reception which followed at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Mrs. Bailey assisted the bridal pair in receiving their guests. She wore a softly tailored blue suit with rose toned blouse and petal hat. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Walter White, friend of the family, proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon to be spent on the mainland, the bride chose a silk print dress in brown and turquoise, topped by a turquoise cashmere coat. She wore accessories of winter white, and white corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Thiersch will live in Vancouver.

Scottish Regiment Honors Ladies

Officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) entertained in honor of the ladies at their annual ladies' dinner in the officers' mess at the Bay Street Armory last Friday. All the color and tradition of the regiment was on display as the officers and their charmingly-gowned guests enjoyed a leisurely candle-lit dinner to a background of pipe music.

During the evening, Major J. S. Grimmond proposed the toasts to the Queen and to HRH the Princess Royal, colonel-in-chief of the regiment. Capt. K. W. Thomson sponsored the toast to the ladies and Mrs. S. R. McDonald gave a delightful reply. Lt.-Col. J. Fawcett, commanding officer of the regiment, gave the traditional piper's toast, with Pipe-Major Andrew Pollock replying in Gaelic.

After the dinner, Col. Fawcett introduced Col. the Hon. R. W. Mayhew, who spoke briefly and whimsically of his position as honorary colonel of the regiment. Col. Fawcett then presented Brig. J. S. Adam, who expressed his pleasure at being present for the first time as group commander and mentioned the importance of the work the ladies were able to do for the regiment.

As the dinner of roast pheasant and filet mignon progressed, Pipe-Major Pollock, Sgt.-Piper F. Allnutt and Piper R. Gandy played pipe tunes requested by the lady guests. Lougheed's acted as caterers for the excellent meal. After the dinner the pipers played for an evening of Scottish country dancing.

Tiny Models in Show

St. Ann's Academy Parents' Auxiliary were sponsors for a children's fashion show which took place last week-end in the school auditorium. Auxiliary president, Mrs. J. O'Connor opened the event, and introduced Mrs. A. Smith, who acted as commentator.

Clothes, were modelled mainly by children from the school. All attending were charmed by the tiny mannequins some of whom were under two years of age. The little ones actually quite enjoyed the part they played.

Infants were Meredith Cherneff, Dorothy Nash, Miriam Coates, and Margaret Willis. Their tiny play and dress outfits were beautifully shown. Little boys modelling were Masters Allen Butler, John Day, Peter Keymer, Bernard McGowan and Allan Breen. These youngsters almost stole the show from the girls, and were very confident and at ease during the showing.

Little Miss Cheryl McBratney, acted as page, and assisted the young models in showing their outfits.

Stylings from cowboy suits for the little boys, tiny hat and coat sets for the babies, right up to fancy party dresses for the girls were all viewed with interest. Girls modelling were Misses Huguett Bordeleau, Mary Fletcher, Patricia Flynn, Maren Pederson, Sheryl Docksteader, Karen Anderson, Lois McGee, Dorothy Gaetz, Olive May Knight, Carol Rourke, Marlene Romano, Heather Stewart, Dale Stofer and Yvonne Fensham.

Convener for the affair was Mrs. V. Butler.

Before the show and during intermission, choral and solo numbers by students were enjoyed. Older students performing were Miss Sally Seymour and Miss Sandra Zanichelli.

At the closing, Mrs. O'Connor presented a gift to Mrs. Hilda Russell, owner of the store responsible for the showing of young folks clothes.

Barefoot Dancing Theme of Talk

Mrs. Ragna Moore, instructor of rhythmic barefoot dancing classes at the YWCA addressed members of the Vari-Arts Club at last week's meeting. A student of Malkovsky, Mrs. Moore taught for some time in "L'Ecole Marie Kummar et Malkovsky" in Paris and also in her native city of Stockholm, Sweden. It is believed that Mrs. Moore is the first to introduce to Victoria this type of dancing which originates from the Greek style and was made widely known in Europe and England by the late Isadora Duncan.

Two club members, Mrs. Audrey Davies and Mrs. Phyllis Robinson assisted Mrs. Moore in demonstrating to the group the various dance forms which are done to music and tend to develop bodly grace and balance.

Classes at the Y held for adults on Wednesday evening and for children Saturday mornings will discontinue for the summer months but will be resumed in September. Enrollments for these classes will be accepted by the program department at the YWCA.

Mrs. A. G. H. Tisdall, board member, spoke briefly concerning YWCA membership and announced a "pot luck supper" would be held on April 27, in celebration of World Membership Day.

Norma Macdonald Meets Old Friends on Visit to Tokyo

Leaving Victoria in early January, Mrs. Macdonald, owner-manager of Oak Bay Beach Hotel, has traveled by air around the world. She is expected home again the end of this month. After leaving Tokyo she will spend a couple of days in Honolulu before flying back to Victoria. Excerpt from a letter home are given here.

Tokyo—March 22.

"Here I am in Tokyo and enjoying every minute of it. In spite of a terrific downpour which delayed our landing very badly.

"I found a warm welcome waiting for me at the airport when I got in from Manila on Sunday evening. The Imperial Hotel (since we are fellow members in the International Association) sent a special car out for me, and also awaiting me at the airport were a group of friends—Ann Rowland, whose home is in Centralia, Wash., but who, with her parents, has spent every August in Victoria, until she grew up enough for Uncle Sam to send her abroad in his service, first to Iceland and now here. Also Sylvia and Ken Miller were at Haneda to meet me. Sylvia is the very attractive daughter of Victoria's Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Walker on Rockland Avenue. Ken is a banker here and they leave early in April on five months' leave, most of which they will spend in Victoria.

"Yesterday being a holiday here (the first day of spring), they had planned to take me into the country but the weather was unkind, so instead we lunched at the America's Club and then went on to Tokyo's famous theatre, Kabuki-Za.

"Lastly (and very important), I'm seeing Tokyo with Harry and Agnes Keith, who are also on their way home to Victoria. They are in a hotel a few stops away from here and today the three of us lunched together and then wandered in the rain along the Konda, Harry's favorite street, filled with shops carrying only books and prints.

"He has a great weakness for old books, while Agnes and I leaned toward the lovely prints.

"In Manila, too, my short visit was made very pleasant by a reunion with friends I had not seen for a long time, Joe and Emily Carter, old friends when I lived in Seattle many years ago. The Carters will also be remembered by many Victoria people, particularly on account of mutual experiences in Santo Tomas prison camp. They lost all their material possessions at that time and also most completely lost their health, but now they both look wonderful and they have one of the most beautiful homes I have seen.

"My trip is nearing its finish and I only hope my pictures will be good so that I can show to all of you who are interested the lovely places I have been."

A well-ventilated bedroom helps toward a good night's sleep.

Drill Team Honors Former Member By Forming Guard at Her Wedding

Victoria Girls' Drill Team, in smart white, red and blue uniforms, formed a guard of honor at the wedding of Corrine Marcia Smith and Walter Campbell "Bud" McKay. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels A. Smith, 540 Atkins Road, Langford, and her groom the second son of Mrs. Caroline McKay, and the late Walter McKay of Gleichen, Alta.

Vows were exchanged in Metropolitan United Church on Saturday evening, with Rev. F. E. H. James officiating. The communion table was arranged with a basket of daffodils, pussy willow and fern and pews were marked with daffodils. Ushers were Vernon K. Smith, cousin of the bride, and Paul Auringer.

A ballerina-length gown of white embossed net over tulle, with underskirt of white satin, was worn by the fair-haired bride. The net was fashioned in the new long torso line from which tiers of narrow frills flared out into the skirt. A wrist-length jacket of the embossed net was styled with a collar outlined in mother of pearl sequins and seed pearls. The fingertip veil was held with a sweetheart headdress of net trimmed with seed pearls and the cascade bouquet was red roses and white carnations. She was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor, Miss Loretta B. Mitchell and bridesmaids, Misses Joan M. Steel and Anne Newham, cousin of the bride, wore identically styled dresses in lime green, mauve and dusky rose, ballerina-length, with strapless badices and jackets featuring cap sleeves. They carried Colonial bouquets of carnations and roses in complementing tones and wore head bandeaux of the same flowers.

Miss Shirley M. Smith, sister of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a daffodil yellow nylon tulle dress, the floor-length skirt sprigged with tiny flowers. Her blond hair, in pony style, was intertwined with flowers to form a headdress. She carried a Colonial bouquet of mauve stocks.

Neale R. Smith, brother of the bride, was best man. Wedding music was played by Mrs. W. Milburn.

Reception was held in Langford Community Hall, decorated with spring flowers by the bride's aunts, Mrs. Otto Smith, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Agnes Smith, Mrs. George Carr, Mrs. Fred Newham and a friend, Miss Shirley Moseley.

The young couple stood under a latticed arch of white and pink flowers and trailing ivy. They were assisted in receiving guests by Mrs. Smith wearing a navy and white ensemble, and Mrs. McKay in charcoal grey with paddy green hat and accessories. Their corsages were pink and white carnations.

An ecru lace cloth covered the bride's table which was centred with a three-tier cake on a crystal stand that belonged to the bride's grandmother. The cake was decorated with white and silver leaves and topped with orange blossoms and silver bells used at the wedding of the bride's parents. White candles in silver sconces flanked the cake and vases of iris and daffodils completed the arrangements. A sword belonging to T. Thorpe, Langford, was used by the bride to cut the cake.

Mrs. E. Jackson, an aunt of the bride, presided at the buffet table which was covered with a Chinese silk cloth and decorated with daffodils. Members of the drill team, of which the bride was a former member acted as serviteurs. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rodney W. Bayles.

The wedding cake was made by Raymond McTavish, a school friend of the bride in Langford, who also arranged the refreshments for the reception. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Colwoodaires.

Leaving for a honeymoon at Calgary and in the United States, Mrs. McKay wore a green and gold nubby tweed suit in the new boxed style with gold and off-white accessories and a three-quarter-length fur coat. Her corsage was talisman roses. On their return, the young couple will live at Langford.

BIG TOP TOMORROW NIGHT, 'OSCARS' THE NEXT

In a forthright report to the Commons Broadcasting Committee last week, A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, admitted what most Canadian television viewers have sensed all along — that "there is a great deal of room for improvement in the quality of Canadian TV productions."

The trouble, Mr. Dunton asserted, was that Canadian television audiences had acquired a taste for expensive and lavish productions such as those they viewed on U.S. channels. He pointed out that the average American half-hour show cost in the neighborhood of $25,000-$35,000 while only $5,000 was spent on a similar Canadian show.

Nonetheless, the CBC chief said, the CBC was proud of what already had been accomplished and expected to increase the amount and quality of productions in the future.

Sid Caesar spoofs movie at 8 on C-4

All of which is good to know.

★ ★ ★

How much electricity do our TV sets consume? Hon. George H. Challies, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, told the legislature the other day that TV sets in Ontario consume as much electricity as the cities of London, Ont., and Windsor. He said there were approximately 673,000 sets in the province.

Just a reminder; There are two dates you might like to keep open this week. The first is for tomorrow night at 8 when Channel 4 brings Circus Highlights of 1955. Right from Madison Square Garden, New York, the TV cameras pick up the wonders of the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus. Worthwhile keeping the youngsters up for?

The second top show of the week happens Wednesday evening at 7.30 when Channel 4 brings us the Academy Awards. This year's promises to be the best yet. Not only are the races for top honors the tightest in years but—for once—all the stars involved will be there.

Headliners

7.00: "Dominique" is Studio One's drama presentation on Channel 11. It's about an American bringing his bewildered young Italian bride home to the U.S. The girl finds that her old views on life conflict with those demanded by the new. Ralph Meeker stars.

On the same hour, Bill Bellman's Almanac can be found on Channel 2.

Life with Elizabeth is on 4.

Beulah Show occupies 13.

8.00: One of TV's truly fine comics, Sid Caesar, takes over Channel 4 with a satire on the picture currently nominated for an Academy Award, "On the Waterfront." Nanette Fabray and the boys will help him later in another Commuters sketch.

An old Caesar comedy shows on Channel 2.

On the same hour TV Reader's Digest's "The Manufactured Clue," plays on 5. It is about a private detective's search for the killer of a girl.

Old friends Burns and Allen whoop it up on 11 as Gracie tries to hide a Great Dane pup in the guest room.

Bishop Fulton Sheen can be heard on 12 and the Heart of the City Drama on 13.

8.30: Wilfred Pelletier's concert hour is enhanced by guest artists Mimi Benzell, soprano, and tenor James Hawthorne. Some of the offerings: My Heart Stood Still, Why Do I Love You and Stars and Stripes Forever.

At the same time, Arthur Godfrey scouts on Channel 11.

9.00: This is a good hour. Lucy is asked to take part in a benefit as a Spanish dancer in Channel 11's I Love Lucy.

Meanwhile "All My Fathers, All My Mothers" — a Medic drama—takes over Channel 4. This episode is about a wee girl who has spent nearly all her life in the hospital, befriended by the doctors and nurses.

At the same time The Falcon is assigned to find a tape recording of a conversation between some gamblers. Entitled "Dawn' Early Light," it can be found on 5.

Detectives Joe Friday and Frank Smith hunt food market thieves in Dragnet on Channel 2.

9.30: "N.Y. to L.A.," is Channel 4's Montgomery Presents show. It tells of a young, punk actor who callously uses everyone to further his career and stars Charles Drake and Pamela Rivers.

Meanwhile Jan Sterling stars in "Ferry to Fog Island" on Channel 5's The Star and the Story. A waitress is surprised as she waits for a man's body to be taken from the river.

The comedy December Bride occupies 11 and Mr. District Attorney 12.

10.00: Ellery Queen on channel 5 tries to help a frightened father whose son has been kidnapped. The Biff Baker Mystery is on 11.

Theatre

TONIGHT'S MOVIES

6.00: Channel 12: In "Bonnie Scotland" Laurel and Hardy go to Scotland so Stan can claim his share of his grandfather's fortune.

9.30: Channel 13: "Below the Deadline," starring Warren Douglas, is about an embittered war veteran who takes over his dead gambler-brother's business and runs it ruthlessly.

10.00: Channel 12: "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

10.30: Channel 4: "Those People Next Door." This British picture stars Charles Victor, Marjorie Rhodes in a plot about young ones in two warring families wanting to be wed.

10.45: Channel 11: "The Shadow Returns." This is a mystery play.

WHEN PROFITS ARE MEASURED IN PENNIES

Is Leukosis a Prowler on your Farm? If Leukosis stealthily undermines your egg profits—don't take half-way preventative measures. GO ALL OUT; start at the beginning by buying the most resistant chicks you can get.

H&N Nick Chick Leghorns you buy from our hatchery have this Leukosis resistant breeding behind them. That's one reason they live so well where others fade away and die. We don't claim they are 100% but we know they have good resistance when compared to other strains. H&N Nick Chick Random Sample Average Unequalled by any other Leghorn or Hy-bred.

5-year Calif. avrs. profit $6.15, eggs 256
Test avrs. profit $4.84, eggs 220
Extra H&N profit per chick $1.30; eggs 36

H&N Leghorns also held the highest three-year average profit at both California and New York. We are the only hatchery in Western Canada that can supply you with H&N NICK CHICKS. Why don't YOU try them and see how much more resistant they are under the conditions which exist on your farm.

WHY GAMBLE

When you buy broiler chicks buy the chicks that will make you the most PROFIT. Our Cornish Cross took the Random Sample Test in California crossed with first generation Nichols New Hamps or Arbor Acres White Rocks. All our breeding stock is first generation Nichols or Arbor Acreas. We are the only hatchery in B.C. that imports all their breeding stock from these famous American breeders.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING For Young People

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

WHY NOT USE THAT HIGHER POWER? CONCLUSION

Four college students were gathered in a dormitory room. They all knew that one of them, because of a football accident, was facing an operation on his knee that might mean permanent lameness. And the boy, though he tried to hide it, was in a panic. It seemed to him, and he frankly said so, that life wouldn't be worth living if he had to limp through it.

"Sid," said one of them as he was leaving, hesitant and shy as any boy would be, "I'd like to suggest something. Don't think I'm preaching. But it's what pulled me through last spring when there was trouble at home about my sister."

All the boys avoided looking at the one who was speaking. It had been serious trouble (as they knew; but it had come out all right. The girl had come to see her folly and had broken off with the older, married man with whom she was becoming involved. It was the sort of thing a fellow's friends don't talk about to him.

REALLY WORKS

"It really works," the young man said. "Why don't you draw upon that Higher Power?" Then he left the room abruptly.

"I know what he means," the boy Sid said to his roommate later. "And he's right. I'm being a cowardly sort of pup. I'll do what Bob did. I'll pray myself through this spot."

He did; and the operation was successful. The boy was not lamed; he even was allowed back on the football team the following season.

That is advice we all need, every single one of us. We're all of us up against problems every day of our lives. We may be depressed and unhappy. We may be only puzzled and uncertain. But we are in need of help and the kind of guidance that comes only from that Higher Power. There isn't a day - why, there isn't even an hour —of our lives when we don't need Him. Why don't we draw upon that Higher Power which is ours for the asking? We don't doubt God, do we? Perhaps we are reluctant to pay the price, to give up our selfish wish for our own way. But it's worth it. The peace and happiness that come as a result of giving God the direction of our lives are worth it. And in the end, surprisingly, we find there has been nothing we had to give up that has any great value; we even cease to want what we thought was so precious. So try that Higher Power.

UNIQUE METHOD

A friend of mine who was once a pitcher for the New York Yankees, then the Chicago Cubs and finally the Cincinnati Reds, always drew upon the Higher Power. Once he pitched a game when the temperature was over one hundred degrees. He lost several pounds as a result of the afternoon's exertion. At one stage of the game his energy sagged. His method for restoring his ebbing strength was unique. He simply repeated a passage from the Old Testament—"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

The pitcher who had this experience told me that reciting this verse on the pitcher's mound actually gave him a renewal of strength so that he was able to complete the game with energy to spare. He explained the technique by saying, "I passed a powerful energy-producing thought through my mind."

PLAYERS PRAY

This same pitcher never went onto the diamond that he did not believe the Lord was there to help him, not necessarily to win but to be at his best. I know two other big-league players who pray while the National Anthem is being played at the opening of a game and who draw help from God.

A second method for drawing upon that Higher Power is to learn to take a positive, optimistic attitude toward every problem. In direct proportion to the intensity of the faith which you muster will you receive power to meet your situations. "According to your faith be it unto you" (Matthew 9.29) is a basic law of successful living.

DRAW ON IT

There is a Higher Power, and that Power can do everything for you. Draw upon it and experience its great helpfulness. Why be defeated when you are free to draw upon that Higher Power? State your problem. Ask for a specific answer. Believe that you are getting that answer. Believe that now, through God's help, you are gaining power over difficulty.

This Higher Power is one of the most amazing facts in human existance, I am awestruck, no matter how many times I have seen the phenomenon, by the thorough-going, tremendous, overwhelming changes for good that it accomplishes in the lives of people. Personally, I am so enthusiastic about all that the Higher Power can do for people that I am loath to bring this to a close. I could recite story after story about people of all ages—youngsters like you who are reading this—incident after incident of those who have laid hold of this power.

This power is constantly available. If you open to it, it will rush in like a mighty tide. It is there for anybody under any circumstances or in any condition. This tremendous inflow of power is of such force that in its inrush it drives everything before it, casting out fear, hate, sickness, weakness, moral defeat, scattering them as though they had never touched you, refreshing and strengthening your life with health, happiness, and goodness.

'67th' Vets Whoop It Up At 39th Annual Reunion

Age was no deterrent at the 39th annual reunion of Victoria's 67th Battalion, "Western Scots," held Saturday in Lougheed's Banquet Hall.

Oldest "old sweat" who turned out was 89-year-old J. "Nobby" deClerk, of Cedar, V.I. and the younger ones were all in their sixties.

The unit served in some of the First World War's bitterest fighting, and many present at the banquet showed scars received at Ypres Salient, the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Paschendale and other major engagements fought while the 67th was pioneer battalion for Canada's 4th Division.

Those present joined in singsongs, greeted old friends and took their refreshment rations with as much alacrity as they did years ago. Piper Jock Low and his son played highland selections, Art Stringer sang solos, Cecil Heaton played the piano and Ernie Rance led the singing of old war songs.

TWO WARS

A feature of the gathering was the presence of six two-war veteran teams — First World War father and Second World War son.

Chairman of the banquet was Major George Nicholson, MC; regimental toast was proposed by Robert Macnicol, unit quartermaster-sergeant and former Saanich reeve, and reply was from Major S. H. Okell, MC. Both paid tribute to battalion second-in-command, the late Maj. A. E. Christie.

Veterans from out of town who attended included W. J. Bowen, who travelled 550 miles from Finmore, B.C., and Ted Wilson, who came 325 miles from Keremeos. A dozen were from Vancouver and New Westminster, 25 from up-Island and two from Seattle.

Normal Literary Society Hears Variety of Talks

By LILLIAN MacKAY
Times Normal School Correspondent

Fort St. John is the only British Columbia town using B.C. gas, members of the Literary Society learned Friday afternoon.

Continuing talks on our home province, Josephine Boichuk spoke on development of the Peace River Block.

Although 75 per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture (shipping grain, honey and livestock through Dawson Creek), forestry and petroleum are becoming increasingly important, she said.

TO UNITED STATES

Much of the spruce shipped from 400 logging camps and 370 sawmills in this area reaches American markets. Because of a gas potential of 8,000,000 cubic feet per day and recent high-grade oil discoveries, it is estimated $15,000,000 will be invested within the next few years.

Alan Snowsell then reminded his fellow teachers that A. A. Milne's stories are an excellent source of material for groups interested in choral speaking. His effective reading of "The King's Breakfast" was much appreciated.

To reduce the high incidence of drowning, Agnes Young contended that everyone should consider it his duty to learn to swim and that teachers should have a practical knowledge of life-saving. Miss Young demonstrated the most efficient methods by which assistance can be given.

NEW MEANING

In discussing the poetry of Ogden Nash, Ann Robinson stressed his captivating originality. That his new style and new approach had brought new meaning was most apparent from her reading of "Seasons" and "The Evening Out."

Doreen Ray spoke on the Baroque period of music. This era, from 1600 to 1750 A.D., gave the world not only major improvement of the pipe-organ but also the genius of J. S. Bach, whose organ compositions have never been surpassed. His "Toccata and Fugue in B minor," with its great rolling variations, brought special interest to closing minutes of the meeting.

Recently the tempo of Normal School activity has quickened perceptibly. Each teacher has now received his assignment for his htird round of practice teaching.

Preparation for this culminating experience of teacher-training must advance concurrently with his preparation for the Easter examinations which start April 4.

'Lace on Her Petticoat' Hit With Langham Court Audience

By DAN CHRISTIAN

Dour Scottish humor which keynoted the Victoria Theatre Guild's three-act comedy presentation, "Lace on Her Petticoat," met with the overwhelming approval of over 200 spectators at the Langham Court Theatre Saturday night.

This, the guild's fifth production of the 1954-55 season, was well-directed by Bruce Banyard. And the production staff is credited for having designed and constructed a set with a professional touch.

The plot, which at times became complex, centred around the social class struggles in Scotland during the 1890's.

An unusually fine performance of "Hamish Cahoon," the mannerless young man who stood for the rights of the common working man was given by Alan Robertson, and Gwen Downes was extremely convincing as the straight-laced and dignified "Granny."

A creditable performance of the widow "Mrs. Faith McNairn" who is wooed and eventually won by "Hamish Cahoon" was given by Carol MacCormac.

Other commendable efforts were given by Judy MacCormac as "Alexis Carmichael" the rich upper class youngster, friend of the widow's daughter "Elspeth."

In her first major production splendid work was done by Dale Cole as "Elspeth."

Others in the cast were the footman "Mr. McDougall," Ronald Clydesdale, and the sister-in-law "Mrs. Cahoun," Sonia Bech.

Keeping a true broad Scottish accent while endeavoring, at the same time, to make movements that appeared natural, occasionally presented difficulty to a few of the actors.

However, the players showed no noticeable nervous strain as they kept the play moving on an even keel throughout the entire performance. First night jitters probably accounted for a few missed cues.

The whole show is good family entertainment and will be on all this week starting tonight at 8.15.

Wharf Car Fee At Sidney May Be Cut

Shipping Levy Still in Doubt

Transport Minister G. C. Marler today is expected to make a statement on withdrawal of legislation which would impose a 25-cent charge on cars using the Sidney ferry wharf.

It's reported Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC, Esquimalt-Saanich) has received assurance from the minister a recent order-in-council imposing the fees will be rescinded.

The order was to become effective April 1. General Pearkes said the fees would be disastrous to Vancouver Island's tourist business.

However, it is not known whether Mr. Marler's action on the ferry situation also means reduction of the wharfage fee for ships. Under legislation effective next month, the bill would be upped from $60 to $4,800 for the season.

This latter point is expected to be clarified today when General Pearkes will ask a full statement from the transport minister in the House of Commons.

Pipe-Smoking Championship Won by Dane

MONTREAL (CP)—A Danish smoker, J. Stelling of Copenhagen, appears to have won the world pipe-smoking championship with one entry unreported.

Stelling kept alive his 3.3 grams of burley for one hour, 39 minutes and 15 second to lead competitors from 15 countries. Argentina is the only entry that has not cabled results to the Maple Leaf Pipe Club of Montreal, sponsors of the competition.

Stelling's closest rival was Per Opsahl of Norway, who lasted for one hour, 30 minutes and eight seconds.

Canada's entry, Gurson Hecht of Montreal, one of the seven contestants whose pipes petered out before an hour, smoked for 38 minutes and 46 seconds.

Two judges stood by each candidate as he used only two wooden matches to light a pipe of 3.3 grams of burley.

Oak Bay Golf Course Chosen As Start for Janice's Swim

Oak Bay Golf Course has been selected by Toronto swimmer Janice White, 18, as jumping-off spot for her attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait Wednesday.

She made the announcement today before a final plotting conference this afternoon with navigator Captain Charles Goodwin and members of her flotilla scheduled to accompany her when she starts her swim.

Tide tables show Miss White will have an incoming tide for the first four hours of her swim.

The rise in tide will be about a foot. It is estimated she will be taken in the general direction of Hein Bank at the eastern end of the strait above Port Townsend, Wash.

RECEDING TIDE

When the tide changes at about 7 a.m., it should begin carrying her back in the direction of Port Angeles. She would have the benefit of the receding tide all the way from about mid-strait.

Miss White planned to be in the water today and Tuesday morning off her starting point and Dallas Road for her last pre-swim training dips. At noon Tuesday she intends to go into seclusion until 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Sunday afternoon Tacoma swimmer Bert Thomas swam from Albert Head to Beacon Hill where he was greeted by a crowd of about 300 persons. His time, breast-stroking all the way because his goggles leaked, was 1 hour and 18 minutes for the three and a half miles.

PEGGY'S CANDY POLE NO APRIL FOOL JOKE

NEW YORK (UP)—Dear Kids: Anytime after April 10, go to your papa and say: "Daddy, is there really a red-and-white striped pole at the top of the world called the North Pole?"

The old gent probably will snarl and tell you that of course there's no such thing—don't be ridiculous, and stop bothering me.

Then you can laugh right in his face. Because there'll really be one there, candy-striped in fire-engine red. It will be 15 feet tall and a foot across, made of aluminum.

The pole is being taken along by red-haired, blue-eyed Peggy Keenan, who plans to be the first woman in history to reach the North Pole when she accompanies her husband's expedition which leaves here early in April.

The expedition will shove off from here, in two airplanes, some time after April 1.

Diem Winning Fight In Indo-China Crisis

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP) — Paratroopers loyal to pro-American Premier Ngo Dinh Diem seized Saigon's police prefecture from policemen of a rebellious religious sect in a bloodless blitz today.

Ousted police belonging to the Binh Xuyen sect of former river pirates withdrew without resistance when Diem's troops rolled up to the building with tanks in another phase of the premier's crackdown on rebels.

The dawn action showing the American-backed premier's determination not to knuckle under to the sects' threat to his regime caught his rivals by surprise.

The sects' "united front" was coming apart. Informed sources reported sharp disagreements among the war lords of the three sects as to whether to seek an open showdown with Diaem.

The premier issued a proclamation forbidding the carrying of arms in the city and demanding the Binh Xuyen surrender its police powers to the city prefect.

His position was strengthened by a statement of Gen. Paul-Henri Ely, French commander-in-chief, that he fully supported Diem.

Nebraska Convicts Hold Three Guards

Big Four Parley Nearer

France Ratifies German Arms Pact

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden disclosed today Britain, the United States and France have already begun discussing arrangements for a Big Four meeting with Russia.

Eden told the House of Commons Britain is ready and eager to discuss the future of Germany and Austria, disarmament problems and a European security system with the Russians—now that the French Parliament has approved the accords to free and rearm West Germany.

DISCUSSIONS

Eden, who was answering a Labor questioner in the House of Commons, said Britain already is consulting its allies "as to the methods by which we can go ahead" towards arranging Big Four talks.

Britain, he said, proposed the Allies should follow a procedure of consultation that will include meetings of officials, then perhaps meetings of foreign ministers and, "if all goes well, meetings probably at other levels also."

PARIS (AP) — Bolstered by final French parliamentary approval of German rearmament, Premier Edgar Faure turned his efforts today to getting Allied agreement for Big Four talks soon with Russia.

As he prodded the apprehensive French Senate towards its crucial, predawn votes on the Paris accords Sunday, Faure gave assurance he already had been in touch with the United States and Britain on preparation for a high-level parley with the Kremlin.

He went further by making an East-West conference — covering all problems "susceptible to a solution" — the final item in a five-point statement of government aims.

The senators voted 184-110 for the key treaty admitting West Germany and Italy to the Western European Union.

This is the old Brussels Pact of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, enlarged with provision for the rearmament of Germany and the control of the level of the armed forces of the European members.

West German's admission to NATO won Senate approval 200-114.

BEAR GREASE? NO THANK YOU

Duke Isn't Worried About His Bald Spot

RAMORE, Ont. (BUP)—The Duke of Edinburgh apparently isn't worried about his bald spot.

The possibility that the duke might be looking for a reliable hair-restorer prompted Kelly Chamandy, a local fur trapper, to send the duke some bear grease.

Chamandy said he noticed in a newspaper picture that the Queen's husband seemed to be getting a little thin on top, so he dispatched a package of bear grease, regarded as a sure-fire hair restorer in the northland, to Buckingham Palace.

Michael Parker, the duke's equerry, wrote back that the gift was appreciated, but not necessary.

"It was kind of you to express concern about the state of the Duke of Edinburgh's hair, but I can assure you there is no cause for worry."

Ice Jam Dynamited

Ice spewed 100 feet in air today when explosives expert planted two dynamite charges in mammoth jam blocking lower Niagara River. No shifting of massive blockade was noted and U.S. Army engineers said they would continue blasting same location in hope of cracking 30-foot-deep barrier. Today's charges were planted after a helicopter managed to drop within a few feet of the ice field and hovered there while the explosives expert lowered himself to the pontoons and placed the dynamite in position. Above picture shows ice jammed up under the Queenston-Lewiston Bridge.

U.S. Says Reds Mass Huge Invasion Force

Granted 50-50 Chance of Capturing Matsus, Quemoy With Immediate Attack

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Communist China now has massed sufficient forces opposite Quemoy and the Matsus to launch an immediate invasion with about a 50-50 chance of success, according to official estimates of the U.S. Defense Department.

These estimates, it was learned authoritatively today reflect the views of the majority of the joint chiefs of staff.

China's poised invasion forces are reported to have massed an armada of troop-carrying junks secreted in the hundreds of creek mouths and tiny bays opposite the Nationalist-held offshore islands, new Soviet-made heavy artillery and escort torpedo boats.

But Washington's week-end bout of "Formosa fever"—brought on by a sudden spate of military intelligence reports saying that the Communist Chinese planned to attack Matsu in mid-April and Quemoy a month later—showed some signs of cooling today.

DOUBT BEFORE CONFERENCE

Without belittling their grave concern ove rthe China crisis, diplomats, congressional leaders, and officials of the state and defense departments, generally agreed that China would be unlikely to launch an aggressive action on the eve of the African-Asian conference to be held in Bandoeing, Indochina.

But James W. White cabled for The Associated Press today:

"Contrary to some Washington speculation that the Chinese Reds would hesitate to put themselves in an aggressive light until after the conference, there is good reason to think they would prefer to invade the Matsus before or during the conference to impress the very people they plan to dominate."

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Amid fears abroad that the Chinese Reds soon may attack his offshore island outposts, Chiang Kai-shek today belittled their strength and predicted the Chinese Nationalists flag would in the near future fly everywhere over the mainland.

The Nationalist president did not define "near future."

Family of 3 Killed In Snow-Buried Car

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

MONTREAL—Quebec province counted five dead today in the wake of a roaring March blizzard that stalled trains and covered automobiles like kiddie cars on the highways.

A tragic story unfolded when a snowmobile scaled 17-foot drifts to reach a car buried in the drifts of St. Etienne de Lauzon, opposite Quebec City.

An American acrobatic team, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert of Mobile, Alabama, and their six-year-old daughter were found inside—killed by carbon monoxide fumes.

The Robert family ran into overwhelming snowdrifts Sunday en route to keep a professional engagements in Quebec City.

Laureot Olivier, 18, found their bodies in the car about 8 a.m. today while skiing to St. Redempteur, a neighboring village. The car stalled in the middle of the highway and was buried under 6 feet of snow about 300 feet from his farmhouse.

The man was slumped across the front seat. The woman was sitting in the back seat with her arms around the young girl's body.

The other deaths in Quebec included a man found dead in his stalled car in the eastern townships district, and a man found dead on the street in Montreal.

Five blizzard deaths were recorded in Ontario.

Rescuers Reach Snowbound Train

Snowmobile rescuers carrying provisions early today reached a stalled train with 150 passengers some 20 miles from Quebec City. A relief train itself became stuck in snowbanks en route to the aid of the Quebec Central Railways passenger train near St. Lambert de Levis. The first train left Quebec Sunday afternoon and was stuck overnight.

Meanwhile, the 1,500 residents of Ste. Croix de Lotbiniere, 30 miles from Quebec City, pooled their fuel and food supplies today, entering their second week of isolation.

In Ontario 10 inches of snow clogged Toronto streets. Strong winds, with gusts up to 42 miles an hour, whipped drifts across highways and suburban roads and in many areas cut visibility to a few yards.

One of the hardest hit areas was Dufferin county in western Ontario. Howling winds scoured across the area Sunday and filled in highways and sideroads as fast as plows could clear them.

Snowplows which tackled sideroads in King township, 20 miles north of Toronto, became stuck themselves. An SOS message went out by telephone asking all farmers with tractors to turn out and free the plows.

Farms Flooded In West England

WORCESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Thousands of acres of farm land lay under water today along the banks of the swollen Severn and Avon Rivers in western England.

Parts of this big marketing city were flooded. Some farm houses and cattle were still isolated and main roads impassable.

Farther east in Leicestershire, where week-end flooding was the worst in 25 years, the sun was shining brightly. All main roads were clear.

U.S. COUNTS $50 MILLION STORM LOSS

CHICAGO (AP)—A killing storm, the more deadly because it prolonged winter a week beyond its calendar-scheduled departure, moved back toward Canada today leaving 36 dead in its vast wake.

Crop destruction was estimated in excess of $50,000,000.

A fresh blanket of snow lay over much of northeastern United States and freezing temperatures reaching as far south as the northern portions of the Gulf states.

The blizzard spearhead of the week-end storm dumped heavy falls of snow on upstate New York Sunday—15 inches at Syracuse—and paralyzed transportation.

CROPS RUINED

But the greatest disaster was in southern and south central United States, where a spell of spring had brought out the fruit blossoms before the storm swooped in from the northwest.

The hard freeze virtually wiped out the peach crop in eight states — Illinois, Georgia, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Virginia. It ieft Illinois with prospects only one-fourth apple crop. Potatoes, strawberries, tung nuts and vegetables were among the ruined or badly damaged crops in Dixie.

'SHAVING SOAP' DEATH BAFFLES ONT. POLICE

LAKEVIEW, Ont. (BUP)—A man coated with shaving cream was found dead Sunday in an egg-splattered cabin trailer at Lakeview, west of Toronto, and police were baffled.

Charles Tessier, 47, of North Bay, died with his eyes, ears and nose plugged with foam, clutching an egg in one hand. An autopsy failed to discover the cause of death.

Frank Madeley, a once famous jockey who owned the trailer, was found unconscious near the body. His head was covered with a salad bowl that had been filled with shaving cream.

Diem Winning Fight In Indo-China Crisis

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP) — Paratroopers loyal to pro-American Premier Ngo Dinh Diem seized Saigon's police prefecture from policemen of a rebellious religious sect in a bloodless blitz today.

Ousted police belonging to the Binh Xuyen sect of former river pirates withdrew without resistance when Diem's troops rolled up to the building with tanks in another phase of the premier's crackdown on rebels.

The dawn action showing the American-backed premier's determination not to knuckle under to the sects' threat to his regime caught his rivals by surprise.

The sects' "united front" was coming apart. Informed sources reported sharp disagreements among the war lords of the three sects as to whether to seek an open showdown with Diem.

The premier issued a proclamation forbidding the carrying of arms in the city and demanding the Binh Xuyen surrender its police powers to the city prefect.

His position was strengthened by a statement of Gen. Paul-Henri Ely, French commander-in-chief, that he fully supported Diem.

Times' Open Medalist Counts 'Em Up

Sunny skies smiled down on Victoria Golf Club Sunday in the qualifying round of the Times Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament. The sunshine had a special smile for Gorge Vale Golf Club ace, Bob Fleming, who won honors with a par 69. Oak Bay Golf Course Chosen As Start for Janice's Swim

Oak Bay golf course at 3 a.m. Wednesday has been chosen by Toronto swimmer, Janice White, 18, as starting point for her attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait.

She made the announcement today before a final plotting conference this afternoon with navigator Captain Charles Goodwin and members of the flotilla scheduled to accompany her when she starts her swim.

Tide tables show Miss White will have an incoming tide for the first four hours of her swim.

The rise in tide will be about a foot. It is estimated she will be taken in the general direction of Hein Bank at the eastern end of the strait above Port Townsend, Wash.

When the tide changes at about 7 a.m., it should begin carrying her back in the direction of Port Angeles. She would have the benefit of the receding tide all the way from about mid-strait.

Miss White planned to be in the water today and Tuesday morning off her starting point and Dallas Road for her last pre-swim training dips. At noon Tuesday she intends to go into seclusion until 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Sunday afternoon Tacoma swimmer Bert Thomas swam from Albert Head to Beacon Hill where he was greeted by a crowd of about 300 persons. His time, breast-stroking all the way because his goggles leaked, was 1 hour and 18 minutes for the three and a half miles.

U.S. Says Reds Mass Huge Invasion Force

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Communist China now has massed sufficient forces opposite Quemoy and the Matsus to launch an immediate invasion with about a 50-50 chance of success, according to official estimates of the U.S. Defense Department.

These estimates, it was learned authoritatively today reflect the views of the majority of the joint chiefs of staff.

China's poised invasion forces are reported to have massed an armada of troop-carrying junks secreted in the hundreds of creek mouths and tiny bays opposite the Nationalist-held offshore island. Soviet-made heavy artillery and escort torpedo boats are with the fleet.

But Washington's week-end bout of "Formosa fever"—brought on by a sudden spate of military intelligence reports saying that the Communist Chinese planned to attack Matsu in mid-April and Quemoy a month later—showed some signs of cooling today.

DOUBT BEFORE CONFERENCE

Without belittling their grave concern over the China crisis, diplomats, congressional leaders, and officials of the state and defense departments, generally agreed that China would be unlikely to launch an aggressive action on the eve of the African-Asian conference to be held in Bandoeing, Indochina.

But James W. White cabled for The Associated Press today:

"Contrary to some Washington speculation that the Chinese Reds would hesitate to put themselves in an aggressive light until after the conference, there is good reason to think they would prefer to invade the Matsus before or during the conference to impress the very people they plan to dominate."

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Amid fears abroad that the Chinese Reds soon may attack his offshore island outposts, Chiang Kai-shek today belittled their strength and predicted the Chinese Nationalists flag would in the near future fly everywhere over the mainland.

The Nationalist president did not define "near future."

7 Other Fatalities; Big Area Isolated

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

MONTREAL—Quebec province counted five dead today in the wake of a roaring March blizzard that stalled trains and covered automobiles like kiddie cars on the highways.

A tragic story unfolded when a snowmobile scaled 17-foot drifts to reach a car buried in the drifts of St. Etienne de Lauzon, opposite Quebec City.

An American acrobatic team, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert of Mobile, Alabama, and their six-year-old daughter were found inside—killed by carbon monoxide fumes.

The Robert family ran into overwhelming snowdrifts Sunday en route to keep a professional engagements in Quebec City.

Laureot Olivier, 18, found their bodies in the car about 8 a.m. today while skiing to St. Redempteur, a neighboring village. The car stalled in the middle of the highway and was buried under 6 feet of snow about 300 feet from his farmhouse.

The man was slumped across the front seat. The woman was sitting in the back seat with her arms around the young girl's body.

The other deaths in Quebec included a man found dead in his stalled car in the eastern townships district, and a man found dead on the street in Montreal.

Five blizzard deaths were recorded in Ontario.

Rescuers Reach Snowbound Train

Snowmobile rescuers carrying provisions early today reached a stalled train with 150 passengers some 20 miles from Quebec City. A relief train itself became stuck in snowbanks en route to the aid of the Quebec Central Railways passenger train near St. Lambert de Levis. The first train left Quebec Sunday afternoon and was stuck overnight.

Meanwhile, the 1,500 residents of Ste. Croix de Lotbiniere, 30 miles from Quebec City, pooled their fuel and food supplies today, entering their second week of isolation.

In Ontario 10 inches of snow clogged Toronto streets. Strong winds, with gusts up to 42 miles an hour, whipped drifts across highways and suburban roads and in many areas cut visibility to a few yards.

One of the hardest hit areas was Dufferin county in western Ontario. Howling winds scoured across the area Sunday and filled in highways and sideroads as fast as plows could clear them.

Snowplows which tackled sideroads in King township, 20 miles north of Toronto, became stuck themselves. An SOS message went out by telephone asking all farmers with tractors to turn out and free the plows.

$50 Million Loss in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—A killing storm, the more deadly because it prolonged winter a week beyond its calendar-scheduled departure, moved back toward Canada today leaving 36 dead in its vast wake.

Crop destruction was estimated in excess of $50,000,000.

A fresh blanket of snow lay over much of northeastern United States and freezing temperatures reaching as far south as the northern portions of the Gulf states.

Farms Flooded In West England

WORCESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Thousands of acres of farm land lay under water today along the banks of the swollen Severn and Avon Rivers in western England.

Parts of this big marketing city were flooded. Some farm houses and cattle were still isolated and main roads impassable.

Farther east in Leicestershire, where week-end flooding was the worst in 25 years, the sun was shining brightly. All main roads were clear.

LONDON (AP) — Kathleen Viscountess Simon, lifelong opponent of slavery and widow of Britain's Second World War lord chancellor, died Sunday aged 83.

BEAR GREASE? NO THANK YOU

Duke Isn't Worried About His Bald Spot

BALD SPOT

RAMORE, Ont. (BUP)—The Duke of Edinburgh apparently isn't worried about his bald spot.

The possibility that the duke might be looking for a reliable hair-restorer prompted Kelly Chamandy, a local fur trapper, to send the duke some bear grease.

Chamandy said he noticed in a newspaper picture that the Queen's husband seemed to be getting a little thin on top, so he dispatched a package of bear grease, regarded as a sure-fire hair restorer in the northland, to Buckingham Palace.

Michael Parker, the duke's equerry, wrote back that the gift was appreciated, but not necessary.

"It was kind of you to express concern about the state of the Duke of Edinburgh's hair, but I can assure you there is no cause for worry."
